Happy Day, and Fireworks.
A Bull's Ear for Chaplin.
Rockefellers Do Things 'Big.'
Nature Is Annoyed.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

ALMOST IN time for his 57th birthday anniversary five great nations Germany France Italy Japan and Great Britain yesterday signed a document indorsing the President's debt holiday proposal.

The announcement made the world more cheerful. Foreign bonds went up good news for Americans that bought them. Wall Street rapidly wiping a tear from each eye straightened out its wrinkles and sold Big Steel to 90 other prices to match.

There is nothing like action and the President got action when he announced his moratorium idea.

Debts are not forgiven or wiped out. The plan is to give Germany an opportunity to get her breath.

NATURE WITHOUT knowing it but most appropriately, arranges a cosmic fireworks display in honor of the good financial news tonight. Look for a magnificent display of meteors if clouds don't interfere.

The display comes once a year and should be especially brilliant this year. Look at the sky in the directions of the Perseids and see how many you can count of the million bright meteors visible from different parts of the country.

The Perseids are all that is left of Tuttle's comet smashed up long ago floating in space around the sun held by its gravitation and bombarding planets that come close enough. These meteors rarely do harm.

IN SPAIN Charles Chaplin, whom you have seen walking with his toes out saw eight bulls killed in one fight.

Lalanda Spain's champion bull fighter conferred great honor on Mr. Chaplin by presenting to him an ear cut from one of the dead bulls.

If bulls ruled the world you might imagine them forcing Charlie Chaplin and Lalanda into "a man ring" to fight at a terrific disadvantage. You couldn't imagine the worst bull cutting off Charlie Chaplin's ear and handing it to some of the moving picture bulls among the spectators.

THE ROCKEFELLERS do things in a big way, investing money, or distributing it, for science and education.

Detailed plans of the new "Rockefeller City," in the heart of New York, filed yesterday, include parks on the roofs of three full city blocks, a total investment of about $250,000,000, one building among many others containing the largest theater in the world.

The right name for Mr. Rockefeller's magnificent improvement, wiping out old-fashioned, ugly buildings, improving the heart of the world's biggest city, is "Rockefeller City," not "Radio City," which has no meaning. Palmam qui meruit ferat.

NATURE IS annoyed about something. A monsoon in India drowns many.

There was a great earthquake, tidal wave and typhoon in Japan, which created havoc, while floods in Mexico caused great damage, particularly in Vera Cruz, where villages are flooded, many drowned.

Vera Cruz, the Mexican state that has dealt so harshly with Catholic priests, limiting them to fewer than 15 in a country of 1,000,000 inhabitants, had a warning recently from a volcano that had been quiet for centuries.

Black clouds, loud roarings, torrents of boiling water and mud, wiping out many houses, followed now by the drowning of many villagers, will seem to the deeply religious inhabitants of Vera Cruz a direct reply to the government's anti-religious law.

THE ROYAL Princess Victoria, wife of the Duke of Brunswick, starts a restaurant in her husband's ancient castle at Gmunden in the Austrian Salzkammergut. There will be a candy store, dance floor, luncheon, open to anybody able to pay.

Victoria, only daughter of the former Kaiser, sensible and modern, would surprise her grandmother, the German Empress Fredericka, and more than surprise her great-grandmother, Victoria of England.

HOW WOULD you like to plow, harrow, plant, weed and feed your ground, water and feed your mules, mend your harness, pick your cotton, haul it to market, and get TWO HUNDRED AND NINETY DOLLARS IN FULL PAYMENT FOR YOUR YEAR'S WORK? That's what the average cotton farmer in the United States will get this year.

THERE IS TALK of a British combination government to include the Labor party and the Tory party, with Baldwin, Tory leader, prime minister; MacDonald, foreign secretary; Sir William Plendov, an expert accountant, chancellor of the exchequer.

It would be amusing to see the Labor and Tory parties combining to run the government, something like a cow and a horse hitched together, shutting out of power Lloyd George, ablest man in Great Britain.

Mrs. Pinchot 'Secretive' in Congress Race

MRS. GIFFORD PINCHOT

She 'Knows Nothing' About Rumored Candidacy

MILFORD, Pa., Aug. 12.—(INS)—With a crisp "I know nothing about it," Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the Pennsylvania executive, today disposed of rumors she would enter the congressional race in the Fifteenth Pennsylvania district.

Reports that Mrs. Pinchot entertained congressional ambitions grew out of a statement attributed to Mrs. Helen Holloway, a close friend of the Governor's wife, who was quoted as asserting Mrs. Pinchot would seek the Republican nomination in the 1931 primaries, Mrs. Pinchot said.

"Mrs. Holloway spoke without any confirmation from me."

She declined further comment.

Three Firms Share In Big Pipe Order

Announcement was made today that an order for 10,452 tons of 12-inch piping has been placed with the National Tube Company by the Texas Company, oil and gasoline producers.

At the same time, the Texas Company placed an order for a similar amount of the piping with the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and another for 15,470 tons with the Republic Steel Corporation.

Physician Denies Tunneys Await Stork's Visit

DAMARISCOTTA, Me., Aug. 12.—(Universal.)—Mrs. James J. Tunney, wife of the retired heavyweight champion, is in a hospital here—but not as an expectant mother, widespread reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

Dr. Williams H. Parsons, Mrs. Tunney's physician, told Universal Service last night that the former Polly Lauder was merely being treated for a strained back. He vigorously denied that Mrs. Tunney was expecting a baby, explaining:

"No baby is expected. Of that you can be certain.

"About a year ago Mrs. Tunney suffered a severe back sprain. Apparently cured, she fell from a motorboat about a week ago, causing the ailment to return.

"I expect that she will be in the hospital about 10 days or two weeks. Her condition is not in any way serious."

Dr. Parson added:

"I am Mrs. Tunney's personal physician and I can assure you the reports that Mrs. Tunney is to become a mother are without foundation."

McKeesport Youth Insists Shooting Was Accidental; Declares Threat 'Joke'

Andrew Cerpania, 15, of 806 Mulberry street, laughed when John Brodnansky, 15, of 812 Monterey street, both of McKeesport, police were told, threatened to kill Isadore Jacobs, a McKeesport huckster, unless he gave him Cerpania's job.

A shot rang out and Cerpania toppled to the street, a bullet wound in his stomach. He was dead when an ambulance reached McKeesport Hospital.

Witnesses to the shooting told police that Cerpania was awaiting the return of Jacobs from Pittsburgh at Ninth and Mulberry streets, when Brodnansky approached flourishing two revolvers.

Cerpania said according to witnesses:

"What are you doing with those guns?"

Brodnansky was said to have replied:

"If Jacobs doesn't give me your job I'm going to shoot him."

Cerpania laughed and said:

"You wouldn't do that."

The fatal shot was then fired.

At McKeesport police headquarters Brodnansky said the shooting was accidental. He said he took a shell from the gun to show Cerpania. As he replaced it the gun was accidentally discharged. He said he was only "kidding" when he threatened to shoot Jacobs.

Remarriage Tonight, Girl Eloper Missing

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Police aid was sought today in the search for a 19-year-old girl, Mrs. Mary Greenleaf, who was to have been remarried tonight at a church ceremony and has not been seen since she left the home of her parents. An elopement about a week ago resulted in her marriage to Walter Greenleaf, 21.

Hawks was on his way to Hot Springs, S. D., where he will be made an honorary Indian chief.

Coxey Leads Five In Mayoralty Vote

MASSILLON, O., Aug. 12.—(AP)—"Gen." Jacob Coxey seemed certain today of achieving his first public office—that of mayor of this city of 25,000. The 76-year-old campaigner led five opponents in yesterday's primary for the Republican nomination, which is virtual assurance of election.

KLINE BOOSTS COYNE; SILENT ON OTHERS

Senator Will Be Next County Commissioner, Declares Mayor Attending Picnic

Politicians are speculating today on Mayor Kline's choice for the second majority member of the Board of County Commissioners. The Mayor, responding at the Kennywood Park picnic of the Soho Board of Trade to one of the most enthusiastic greetings of his career, said yesterday that the honor guest, State Senator James J. Coyne, would be "a next County Commissioner."

Lauding Coyne the Mayor said:

"I ask you go home and do justice to God's noblest gentleman, Senator Coyne, my friend and next County Commissioner."

The County Commissioner issue was brought into sharp focus Monday by the filing of nominating petitions for County Commissioner Edward V. Babcock as a candidate to succeed himself. Babcock's action was accepted as an eleventh-hour gesture to help his colleague Joseph G. Armstrong, running for a third term, in winning the Mayor's support.

Questioned yesterday as to whether he would soon make a formal statement of his candidacy, Babcock declared:

"Nope, I'm deaf and dumb on that just now."

Replying to a question as to his health, he said:

"I'm all right up home in the country, but when I get down here into this mess it is not so good."

The conversation was held just as Babcock was leaving a Commissioners' meeting and was heading for Commissioner Armstrong's office to talk over the latter's

SPLINTERED MASS OF WRECKAGE AT THE ITALIAN CONSULATE, NEVILLE STREET, TODAY

A city patrolman searching in the ruins of the front of the talian consulate, mysteriously bombed today, for bits of the bomb or other evidence. Dr. Guirato, Pittsburgh vice consul, today reported the affair to the Italian ambassador, who is asking a U. S. investigation.

ANTI-FASCIST WAR SEEN IN BLAST

Envoy's Plea Brings Action By U. S. After Explosion Rocks East End District

The home and office of the Italian vice-consul, Dr. Giovannia Giurato, at 514 South Neville street, was wrecked by a bomb shortly before 3 a. m. today.

Police said they believed it was the work of anti-Fascistis and immediately started an investigation of the blast another of a long series of bombings during the past two months.

BLAMES FASCIST FOE

Giurato told the two city detectives assigned to the case, Gus Ellis and Michael Tortorelli, both Italians, that he believed the crime was sponsored by foes of the Mussolini government. He said he knew of no enemies locally.

Giurato reported the bombing to Giacomo De Martino, the Italian ambassador at Washington, this morning. Ambassador De Martino told Dr. Giurato that he would request a formal report from the State Department.

The vice-consul informed his superior that the Pittsburgh police were "doing everything they could."

State Department officials, according to dispatches from Washington, said today they would ask Pittsburgh authorities for a report on the explosion.

WINDOWS SHATTERED

Giurato was showered with plaster and bric-a-brac clattered about him as the bomb exploded, but he was uninjured.

Parts of the bomb, showing it had been operated by a clock-timed fuse, were found by police near the porch of the consulate.

The blast, which shattered windows in homes and buildings for a radius of a block threw hundreds of persons into confusion, and overturned two automobiles in front of the consulate, was heard for miles. It wrecked the porch and blew out a portion of the building a three-story brick structure, destroyed valuable papers in the office on the first floor, and resulted in damage estimated at from $3,000 to $5,000 by police and fire officials.

Giurato, 39, a former Italian army captain whose services have extended into various parts of the world, told police that at 9:30 p. m. his telephone rang several minutes, but that he did not answer it. An hour later he heard a noise on the front porch and

TORCH MURDERS BRING RAIDS

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 12.—(INS)—Paul W. Voorhies, Attorney General of Michigan, and Harry S. Toy, militant prosecutor of Wayne County, were expected to arrive here this afternoon to direct mobilized law enforcement agencies in the investigation of the Washtenaw County torch murders.

Other developments were:

Finding of a white purse of one of the girl victims six miles from the lonely "lovers lane" where the four charred bodies were found. It shifted the murder scene and led to a new theory that the two high school boys and their girl companions were murdered elsewhere and their bodies carried to the isolated dirt road where they were soaked in gasoline and cremated.

Girl in Respirator 21 Days Recovers

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Little Sallee Louise Dalton, 10, was taken today from the respirator where she has lain for 21 days. Physicians said the child, paralyzed from the neck down, was out of danger.

2 Patrolmen Dismissed; Found Drunk on Duty

Two city patrolmen faced the Police Trial Board today, accused of being drunk while on duty, and were recommended for dismissal. They are Thomas J. Staley and Elmer H. Hanscher.

The officers were dispatched to the apartment of A. Harry Groudine in the Marrowfield Hotel July 24 to investigate a robbery. Mrs. Groudine charged they were drunk when they arrived.

Director of Public Safety James M. Clark ordered the pair suspended two days later, pending a trial board hearing. One week ago today Staley and Hanscher were arraigned, but the Groudines did not appear and the hearing was delayed until today.

Both were on hand today.

Previously Police Lieut. Philip Kumpf had told the board he had investigated the drunkenness report and said the Groudines denied they had accused the officers of being drunk. He also said he talked to both men shortly after the robbery and neither appeared under the influence of liquor.

Kumpf's statement was made five days after Director Clark had said:

"Our investigations show these two men were drunk on duty."

The next step will be Mayor Kline's action on the trial board's recommendation of dismissal.

German Debt Moratorium Approval Believed Aid to Also May Save President

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 — A conference of administration leaders, including President Hoover, today apparently reached the conclusion that a special session of congress will be necessary to enact legislation to meet the financial crisis.

Chairman Everett Sanders of the Republican National committee, who has been in close touch with the White House, declared that a special session will be necessary to enact legislation to meet the financial crisis.

Sanders said that the administration is prepared to ask congress to approve the German moratorium, and to provide relief for the railroads

'LEGS' DIAMOND SENTENCED TO 4 YEARS IN RUM CASE

PAL OF RACKET LEADER ALSO GETS TERM

Pair Freed on Bail Pending Appeal From Conviction As Operators of Still

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—Jack (Legs) Diamond was sentenced in Federal Court to four years' imprisonment in the Atlanta Penitentiary and fined $11,000 for violation of the prohibition law by ownership of a 1,500 gallon applejack still in Greene County.

Despite the fact that Diamond was one of New York's most publicized gang figures his conviction last week together with Paul Quattrocchi marked the first time he actually had faced a prison sentence.

BONDS POSTED

Quattrocchi was sentenced to two years at Atlanta and to pay a fine of $5,000.

Diamond's attorneys offered a motion for admission to bail pending an appeal which they said would be filed within the 90-day limit.

The court fixed bail pending appeal at $15,000 for Diamond and at $7,500 for Quattrocchi. The bonds were posted.

To a reporter who inquired how he felt Diamond said:

"Oh, I'm all right. What's the use of being anything else?"

FACE NEW CHARGE

Judge Hopkins called attention to the fact that Diamond already had $10,000 posted on an old narcotic charge, making his total bail in court $25,000.

After imposing sentence Judge Hopkins directed the District Attorney's office to place evidence adduced at the trial showing violations of the Jones law before the federal grand jury, adding:

"The defendants, if convicted of crimes brought to light through the evidence in this case, would be liable to far more severe punishment than that possible on the conspiracy count. They might be sentenced to 30 or 40 years."

Robbed of Clothing, Thrown From Train

SOMERSET, Pa., Aug. 12—(AP)—Merle Rhodes, 23, Baltimore barber, was found in some bushes near a railroad yesterday after he told police three Negroes robbed him of his clothing and money and tossed him from a running freight train. Sheriff William L. G. Wagoner gave him clothes and money and Rhodes continued his journey back to Baltimore. He said he had gone to Johnstown to accept a job, only to find it had been filled when he arrived.

started down stairs to investigate but returned to his quarters on the second floor when the noise suddenly stopped.

He spent several hours reading and was in the act of retiring when the blast occurred. He told police:

"Upon hearing the explosion my first thought was that lightning had struck the house, but when I saw the extent of the damage I knew that a dynamite blast had occurred.

"It probably has a political aspect. The explosion might have been perpetrated by a disgruntled anti-Fascist, an anarchist or a crank."

To police questioning he declared that the bombing "was a surprise" to him, and denied that he had received any threatening letters. He could hardly believe, he said, that it was caused by a anti-Fascist movement.

Police said the explosion undoubtedly was caused by a dynamite time bomb, and that the noise heard on the porch was made when it was being placed in position under a window nearest the record room. Many of the records, valuable documents in some cases, were destroyed, Dr. Ghirato said.

FIREMEN AND POLICE

In the quarters on the second floor, where the consul lives alone, there was considerable damage, windows being broken and plaster being torn from the walls and ceilings. A picture of Premier Mussolini, hanging in the office, was torn from the wall and the glass broken, but the picture was not damaged.

Mrs. Alice M. Harman, residing with her son, J. B. Harman, at 510 South Neville street, next door to the consulate, was suffering from shock as a result of the explosion. The house was damaged to the extent of about $1,000, it was said.

Many windows were shattered in the fashionable Arlington Apartments, a 10-story building, at Bayard and Neville streets, a short distance away. Occupants, roused from their sleep, rushed into the street. Among them was Judge Ambrose B. Reid.

Firemen at Engine House No. 14, a block from the explosion, rushed to the scene on a still alarm, but found no fire. They assisted police in searching the place for possible injured.

SEEK CLUES IN DEBRIS

The blast shook many buildings, among them the structure housing the Schenley and Mayflower exchanges of the Bell Telephone Company, where operators stayed at their posts, answering hundreds of calls from excited patrons who had been aroused from their sleep by the explosion.

While detectives delved into the debris for clues to the bombers, uniformed police were stationed about the building to prevent plundering.

Dr. Ghirato was disposed to treat the affair with more or less lightness. After talking to police for an hour he asked to be excused, saying he wished to get some sleep. He then returned to the wrecked apartment, took a shower bath and retired.

Raiders Say Police Denied Aid in McKees Rocks Fight

A man and his two sons were in the County Jail today charged with interference with prohibition agents and constables raiding their home at 818 O'Donovan street, McKees Rocks, last night.

When the raiders entered and began reading the warrant, Mrs. Anna Surma, 46, snatched it from the hands of the constable, according to the officers. Her husband, John Surma, 50, and the two sons, Joseph, 22, and Walter, 18, joined in the fight, agents said. Calls for help were sent to prohibition headquarters and McKees Rocks police.

A squad of police arrived but volunteered no help, according to the agents, who declared the police refused to detain the prisoners in the McKees Rocks Police Station.

When reinforcements arrived from prohibition headquarters the fight had subsided. Confiscation of a gallon of moonshine and 554 bottles of home brew was reported. Mrs. Surma was released on her own recognizance.

NAUTILUS DUE TO RESUME POLE TRIP

Engines Repaired After Trouble at Sea; Wilkins Will Continue Today

By CAPT. SIR HUBERT WILKINS
Commander of the Wilkins Ellsworth Trans-Arctic Submarine Expedition.

Radio Via American News Corporation and Radio Marine Corporation.

ABOARD THE SUBMARINE NAUTILUS, Aug. 12—The Nautilus again encountered trouble with her power section on the voyage northward to Spitzbergen, but repairs have been effected.

The Nautilus is lying at Skjervoey, which is about 60 miles from Tromsoe, Norway.

The engineers are adjusting the fuel injection valves, although there is no trouble with the fuel itself.

Two hours after we left Tromsoe, we stopped to charge our batteries, and then the field resistance burned out.

This was replaced with a spare, but at that time, the port engine gave trouble.

Throughout the night the engineers worked over the source of the trouble and made repairs which proved unsatisfactory.

As the best means of effecting satisfactory repairs, we proceeded to Skjervoey on the starboard engine. Here Pilot Brievold left us, and we will remain to readjust our engines and charge our batteries and air flasks.

This will probably take eight hours, and we expect to be in good condition to proceed to Advent Bay today.

CUBAN REBEL ORGANIZES ARMY

Sporadic Fighting Brings Tense Situation; Death Toll in Clashes Mounts

By CHARLES C. CANNY
International News Service.

HAVANA, Aug. 12.—With the rebel leader, Gen. Mario Menocal, reported organizing his forces at Arroyos De Mantua, province of Pinar Del Rio, the situation throughout Cuba remained tense today. Sporadic fighting took place at various points.

The army staff reported that the number of rebels killed since the government undertook to crush an incipient revolution last Saturday was 29. The number of government dead was given as two, but other sources reported 30 soldiers were killed early yesterday in a raid on the city of Santa Clara.

Among rebel leaders killed last night and early today were Gen. Francisco Peraza, 65, veteran of the War of Independence, and Celestino Baizan.

Government sources said that rebels under command of former Gov. Herryman had been surrounded in the province of Pinar Del Rio and that the revolution probably had been crushed so far as this section was concerned.

Havana remained quiet, although normal business has been interrupted by the strike of street car men and the military order requiring passes for entering and leaving the city after nightfall.

LINDYS READY FOR SEA FLIGHT

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 12—(AP)—Facing the most hazardous part of their 7,000-mile flight to the Orient, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh today prepared for a 1,967-mile hop across the foggy waters of the Bering Sea.

The flying couple brought their pontooned monoplane down at Safety Bay, 21 miles east of here, at 5:40 p. m. (Pittsburgh time) yesterday after a 100-mile flight from Shismaref, on Kotzebue Sound, where they were forced down by fog late Monday night on their Point Barrow-Nome hop.

Lindbergh said he expected to remain in Nome today and tonight and that weather permitting he would continue to Karaginsk, Siberia, tomorrow morning.

9-Year Fugitive Captured in Venice

VENICE, Aug. 12—(AP)—Mario Alberti, sought for nine years by police of a dozen countries, has been arrested. On Christmas Eve, 1912, he got into the express car of the Simplon Orient Express, took 135 pounds of gold from the safe and filled the gold bags with bricks, Police say he has confessed.

Western Towns Swap Their Wheat, Coal

HENRYETTA, Okla., Aug. 12—(AP)—The town of Alva, in the center of the northwestern wheat belt, has traded a carload of flour, milled at Alva, for a carload of coal mined at Henryetta, in the center of a mining region. The flour will be distributed to Henryetta unemployed, the coal will be stored for winter use.

Auto Plunge Perils Lives of Princesse

VIENNA, Aug. 12—(AP)—Princess Olga, niece of King Alexander of Jugoslavia, Princess Elizabeth of Greece and Patrick Ramsay, British minister to Athens, narrowly escaped death yesterday when their automobile sideslipped and somersaulted on the Wurzen Pass near the Austro-Jugoslav frontier.

Boys Face Burned In Paraffin Flare

Kenneth Holden, 18, of Churchview avenue extension, Baldwin Township, was burned on the face, neck and chest today when steam flared up as he put a pan of hot paraffin under a water spigot. He was taken to South Side Hospital, where it was said his condition was good.

Bandit's Shot Kills Gas Station Owner

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12—(AP)—Charles Schnatz, wounded by gunmen in a holdup a week ago, died in a Ridley Park hospital yesterday. He had been held up in his newly-opened gasoline filling station the night of his first day at the station.

FALLSTON ROAD ORDERED OPEN

Officials of Fallston Borough, Beaver County, have been notified by the State Highway Department to reopen the Fallston Hill road within 48 hours or face court action, according to a dispatch from Harrisburg today.

Frank G. Blanchard, chairman of Fallston Council and Burgess Stanley Taylor this afternoon said they had not received the notice, Blanchard said:

"They have no business ordering us to remove the barrier anyway. We will obey instructions only from the court."

According to the dispatch the Department of Justice has ruled that the borough is liable for prosecution if it closes the highway to traffic, unless for repairs. The road is on highway route No. 51.

'Ma' Kennedy Plans To Re-Wed Hudson

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12—(AP)—Mrs. Minnie "Ma" Kennedy returned yesterday from a visit to her former husband, Guy E. Hudson, in Las Vegas, Nev., and a brief evangelistic campaign in the gambling halls there with a prediction they soon would re-marry.

FEAR CRAMER DIED IN STORM

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 12—(INS)—The search for Parker Cramer, missing American transatlantic flier, and his Canadian radio operator, Oliver Pacquette, continued today, but airmen were of the opinion that the fliers had lost their lives in Sunday's storm in the North Sea.

All reports indicated that Cramer flew from Lerwick, Shetland Islands, straight into a raging tempest. It was said if he had been forced to descend to the water that his plane could not have survived more than a few minutes.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 12—(INS)—Capt. Lisandro Garay, Honduras aviator, rescued from his wave-lashed plane off North Carolina almost 36 hours after he fell into the Atlantic attempting a nonstop flight from New York to Tegucigalpa, Honduras, was to arrive here tonight. He is a passenger on the SS Biboco, which picked him up at sea on Tuesday.

Garay is suffering from a fractured jaw, many bruises and exhaustion.

Estelle to Demand Suit Settlement

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12—(AP)—Estelle Taylor, film actress, and estranged wife of Jack Dempsey, former champion heavyweight boxer, has said she will "insist that something definite be done" toward settling their marital affairs before she leaves here August 23 for New York.

Attorneys are negotiating for a property settlement. The difference was said to involve some $50,000 and furniture in the Dempsey residence here.

Beer Truck Crashes Fire Hydrant, Held

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(AP)—Andrew Daugherty, 27, of Philadelphia, and his truckload of barrel beer came to grief early today when the truck crashed into a fire hydrant. Daugherty and the beer were taken into custody.

Mail Car Bombed In Capital Station

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—(AP)—A bomb, tossed into a mail car at the Union Station postoffice late last night, exploded but did no damage and injured no one.

Ryan Prefers Young Bride To Father's Millions

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Aug. 12—(INS)—Although cut off, he said, from the millions of his family, Thomas Fortune Ryan III, 32, playboy grandson of the late New York capitalist, was today making happy plans for the future with his bride of six weeks, the former Mrs. Mayme Cook Masters. They were married June 27.

Ryan announced that his father, John Barry Ryan of New York, had disinherited him. It was said that Ryan's parents had planned to have the marriage annulled.

Apparently without immediate means of support, but unworried, Ryan was interviewed by International News Service at the four-room home of his wife's parents, with whom they are living, at Monarch, a small mining camp near here.

Neither of Mrs. Ryan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cook, would comment on their daughter's marriage, except to say that she apparently was happy. Cook works for a coal company at Monarch.

"It is against such [illegible] of the bench that I have taken up the torch to carry it through as it was carried through [illegible] when Judges Orr and Patterson and the late Judge Martin were elected by the people against a slate of judges hand-picked by political bosses.

"I repeat that judges should be elected on merit as the only proper qualification."

SPEED COURTS, DUFF URGES

The application of [illegible] methods to the routine of court work was advocated today by Boyd Duff, [illegible] candidate for the Republican nomination as judge of the Court of Common Pleas, before a meeting of the Exchange Club at the William Penn Hotel today.

Duff said:

"The present status of our Common Pleas courts is unconscionable. It is more than two years behind in its schedule.

"The courts here are rather a time-killing expensive nuisance than what they should be—a convenience and a protection.

"The plan I propose is based wholly upon methods now in use in those other courts which, wearying of a like condition, succeeded in cleaning out the ancient barnacles and by using up-to-date methods succeeded in providing full speeds, convenient and effective justice."

TRANTER SEEKS COUNTY POST

Hebron Tranter, manufacturer [illegible] dealer, has issued a statement announcing his candidacy for the Republican nomination for County Treasurer. He is slated on the ticket [illegible] Commissioner C. C. Mahon. Tranter declared:

"Political interests should be subordinated to public interests and to aid the independent movement in the accomplishment of that end I submit my candidacy.

"In view of the chaotic state of county finances I feel it a public duty to offer my services in the interest of a better and more economical government."

JUDGE PRAISES COLLEAGUES

Judge Ambrose B. Reid, candidate for re-election, has issued a statement giving his reasons why he and his six colleagues who are seeking to succeed themselves should be returned to the bench. He declared:

"These present judges have heard lengthy and involved civil cases, disposed of important equity cases, written opinions which met with the approval of older judges and have done their work well.

"Working alongside the elective judges, these appointed judges have played their equal part in speeding up disposition of cases so that it is no longer necessary to wait two years to get a case heard.

Judge Reid's running mates are Judges Gardner, Shaw, Stadfield, Gibson, McNaugher and Kean.

SHEPPARD RAPS PARK, SMITH

James R. Sheppard, candidate for the Republican nomination as District Attorney, today issued a statement opening his campaign and striking at the alleged political alliance of Jack Fleers and Democratic boss Dist. Attorney Andrew T. Park and Ralph H. Smith, Independent party candidate for that office, in the purported failure of law enforcement. He said:

"In recent years a new phenomenon has appeared in American politics in the way of patronage, an extra legal spoils system grouped under the euphonious term 'rackets.'

"Mr. Park and Mr. Smith have had their opportunity at enforcement.

"What they have done with this opportunity will be a pertinent matter of inquiry."

UPHOLD WAGES, GREEN REPEATS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 12 (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, announced today the executive council in session here had reaffirmed its position that wages should not be reduced.

"The executive council of the American Federation of Labor reiterated and reaffirmed its original position in opposition to attempted reductions in wages. It is firmly of the opinion that the distressing unemployment situation can be overcome only through the development of the purchasing power of the masses of the people to its maximum capacity."

U. S. Shipping Board Dooms Brazil Line

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Dissolution of the American Brazil Line was decided upon today by the Shipping Board. The line consists of three cargo ships of 7,600 tons each and has been operated for the past since February 15, 1928, by the Grace Steamship Company of New York. It runs from New York, Philadelphia, Savannah and Jacksonville to Northern Brazil ports.

MEXICANS SEEK FLOOD RELIEF

TAMPICO, Mex., Aug. 12 (AP)—While Tampico continued to fight its own flood problem today, relief cars left and were streaming in from flooded inland regions along the Panuco, Tantesi and Temporal rivers. Food supplies and clothing were sent in launches to the afflicted districts.

A report from Miravegas in the state of Vera Cruz said 100 families were marooned on a small island formed by the flood and it was feared they would perish because the island was only three feet above water and the flood was rising rapidly.

A 10-mile stretch between the Panuco River and Pozo Laguna in Vera Cruz was covered with water, submerging several villages whose inhabitants fled.

Wounded Suspect Able to Return East

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (AP)—Herman W. Duker, held in Los Angeles for Baltimore officers who charge him with the murder of John W. Anderson, milk company employe, on April 3, has sufficiently recovered from gunshot wounds to be taken home, officers here were advised by California authorities. Duker has been in a Los Angeles Hospital with bullet wounds inflicted by a policeman.

His condition was critical for days and last month his mother went West to be at his bedside. After her arrival he rallied.

LEGION BACKS WAR ON GANGS

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(Universal Service.)—The American Legion of New York City, 30,000 strong, today pledged co-operation and participation in the monster mass-meeting, arranged by the New York American for Monday evening, August 24, in Central Park.

Bainbridge Colby, former Secretary of State, agreed to act as temporary chairman of the meeting. In announcing his acceptance, Colby said it was not only an honor, but a civic duty.

In announcing the decision of the legion members to aid in the campaign to drive gangsters and racketeers from the city, Edward J. Neary, state commander, made the following statement:

"As a result of the willful slaughter of young children on the streets of New York, two weeks ago, I presumed, speaking on behalf of the 30,000 members of the American Legion in the city of New York, to offer every aid and assistance at our command to the city officials, and particularly Police Commissioner Mulrooney, in their efforts to rid the city of gangsters and gunmen."

STORM INJURES 7 IN OHIO

LORAIN, O., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Seven persons injured, four houses smashed and three other houses knocked from their foundations, was the estimate today of the damage done by a windstorm of near-tornado violence which last night struck Sheffield Lake village, five miles west of here.

Accompanied by a heavy downpour of rain, the storm swept off Lake Erie shortly before midnight. Suddenly attaining its peak of violence, it lifted the houses from the ground, tumbled them and their occupants about, broke many trees and telephone poles and did other damage.

The high wind missed Lorain, but streets were flooded by rain and citizens recalled the tornado which struck Lorain in June, 1924, killing 93 persons and doing a property damage of $20,000,000.

1 Killed, 100 Safe In Mine Explosion

WELCH, W. Va., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—A motorman was killed and a brakeman injured in a gas explosion last night in the Exeter mine of the Kingston-Pocahontas Coal Company at Hemphill, a few miles from here.

The motorman was Preston Cox, 40, of Marytown, and the brakeman, Wilbur Cecil, Negro.

About 100 men were in the mine at the time of the explosion, but Cox and Cecil were the only victims.

HORNE'S August Sales

Fur Coats...

For Women 5 ft. 4" and Shorter

There is a certain type of woman who has been patying herself, all these years, every time she tried on a fur coat. In height she is somewhere between five feet and five-feet-four and is inclined to plumpness, and women's regular size coats are too long for her and misses' sizes too tight. But now comes Horne specialization to eliminate her problem. For after our last year's tremendous success with short women's cloth coats, we have made a great innovation of fur coats of this type in the August Sale.

Our coats are specially designed, with every line shortened that should be shortened, with extra width at the hipline, and throughout they are shaped to give the figure an illusion of slenderness and increased height. So that when a short woman tries on one of these models, she immediately sees herself looking as neat and graceful as her tall, slender rival.

These coats have the same general style features as those in regular sizes, and can be had in every fur offered in the sale.

Illustrated . . .

Short women who thought they could never wear Leopard, hardly recognize themselves in this specially designed model of fine Natural Skins . . . $395.

Note the shorter shoulder, the neat collar and cuffs, and the graceful lines of the short, smart Hudson Seal-dyed Muskrat . . . $175.

Electric Washers

A Market Opportunity $59.50

Such a furore as these washing machines caused among the salespeople who thought they had already seen the best of the low-priced washers! This, they declared, was an amazing washer for so low a price. They compared its performance, its power, its appearance, with more expensive models and the results were all in favor of this machine.

Come, judge this washer for yourself. Note the six-sheet tub, the sanitary and safe porcelain enamel wringer with balloon-type rolls, the ¼ h.p. motor and simplified mechanism, and compare it with machines now selling at $90.50.

James Cagney Is Rewarded For Recent Hits With Avenger Role

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 11

The cocky, impudent shadow of James Cagney, now hailed with delight by millions of fans, will flash across the screen again in "The Blind Spot," one of the four Warner Brothers pictures going into production September 8.

After his sensational appearances in "The Millionaire," "Sinner's Holiday," "The Public Enemy," "Smart Money," "Other Men's Women" and "Doorway to Hell," Cagney has become a star overnight. He's the rage of Hollywood. Everybody wants to meet him. Even Greta Garbo, who refuses to meet anybody, has asked to be introduced to Cagney.

Loretta Young, in the role she will play opposite Lew Ayres in "The Road to Paradise."

LATEST GOSSIP

Ben Lyon, who was to have been starred by Fox, has been relegated to a lesser role in "Transatlantic." Fox officials became disgusted with Lyon's inability to learn his lines and finally wired Hollywood to send them another leading man. And when Ben arrived he was told that he was to play second fiddle to Lew Ayres. He refused the part and was promptly suspended. Fox officials are trying to get rid of his contract.

Carole Lombard

Lombard was sea-sick all the way here from Honolulu. Her illness broke up Director Barthelmess' plan of shooting the scenes on the honeymoon ship. Encouraged by the way Cagney has been received, Warners are planning to star Mae Clarke in "The Front Page." Ken Murray, who played opposite Irene Dunne in "Cimarron," has been signed by Universal for a series of comedies.

MADE BY JACKASS

Two years ago, Ralph Graves was a bit player in Hollywood. Nights he was a waiter in a classy Montmartre restaurant where a jackass was the mascot. One night Graves got drunk and led the jackass into a hotel lobby. They even went to the room of a girl who had given him a letter asking for a chance in pictures. And when Ralph was finally thrown out, he refused to leave the jackass behind. Finally the animal was given to Graves and became his mascot.

SNAPPY LIKE NAVY

Buddy Rogers, who is to be starred for Paramount, has been

Ginger Rogers wants her husband, opposite Bill Boyd, in "The Road to Fleet."

If studio contracts to pair along here, be a Pathe contract for her.

THE GLOBE TROTTER

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

By Way of Report

"Dear Walter: It certainly was grand of you to bat out that column for me the day after the explosion. I've been wanting to reciprocate for some time and this is my first opportunity. Inasmuch as you are the chairman of the press committee for the Helen Walsh testimonial matinee, I'd like to give you a report on the way things have gone. The report must necessarily be incomplete. But that's the way I usually do everything, so nobody will be particularly startled.

"I have a little surprise for you, Walter. Remember when Jimmy Walker, Harry Richman, Flo Ziegfeld, Gene Buck, Willie Morris, you and I sat together and discussed this thing? We knew that the show would play to capacity and that the theater, stars and stage hands would give their services for nothing. And we knew that we would clear about $4,600 on the performance.

"But we also knew that the mistake on that little house in Riverdale ran pretty close to $8,000 and that it would cost another thousand or so to take it off. We waffled so much to save face that Heckie's mother, a dear, fat Catholic soul, died with the impression that the mistake on the theater thing was Helen's. Helen had been sleeping with the angels. We all felt like heels. We are all heels because it is there that $20,000 was a mighty high mark at which to shoot. Remember? (Ha! discussion).

"Well, Walter, as I write this to you, Dan C. Cupid who has helped us immensely as treasurer of the benefit has already deposited $11,000. Harry Richman and I have another $2,000 in checks to save him, and the box office will turn in another $3,000 or so for seats sold through the window.

"In other words, kid, the Helen Walsh Testimonial matinee should realize between $16,000 and $18,000, thus making it just about the biggest matinee benefit New York has ever known. Which says this town has no heart.

"Incidentally, I was to have received $500. But now I have no car or chauffeur, and I have but one bank account left, to my name. I hope you'll take the will for the deed.

"He gave me a check on that one remaining bank account. I never even tried to put that check through. Because the following morning the bank was closed to state order. His account was a casualty of the panic.

"Be a real boy, Walter. And thanks for everything.

MARK HELLINGER"

* * *

P. S.—I just spoke to Mrs. Walsh on the phone and for the first time since the explosion we had a real laugh. She is recovering nicely from a certain acquaintance of the Bunion to various charities in memory of her daughter. The spot will be closed shortly.

That's a grand gesture on her part, Walter. I guess we know where Helen's sweetness came from.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

A correspondent who recently saw "Dirigible" screened in the Warner writes to intimate his amazement because there was no handclapping ever when the American flag was planted at the South Pole, taking it as an implication that our veins may be filled with water of the Pacific instead of patriotic red blood. Has he considered the possibility of sour grapes on the part of the spectators, seeing that it was a hot day and they were not at the South Pole? Anyway, there are some patriots who think that people who applaud at movies are slightly absent.

* * *

Small Timer says he is glad he is not in politics because people DO applaud him occasionally for his efforts even if he does steal all his material, too.

* * *

The Fulton, which closed a few weeks ago for the installation of a cooling system, will reopen Friday, August 21, with Ruth Chatterton, in "The Magnificent Lie," as the screen feature.

* * *

Small Timer says Lindy has been undergoing no new experience, for he has been "sitting att he top of the world" for a number of years.

* * *

Owen Davis, who has turned his hand to drama oftener, perhaps, than any other man in the United States, is the author of another "Just to Remind You," which has gone into rehearsal with Paul Kelly and Sylvia Field in the leading roles. Owen Davis, Jr., is a member of the cast. Some Pittsburgh folks remember that Mr. Davis was here last season trying to help his son, Donald Davis, whip into shape the latter's play, "Made in Hollywood," which appears to have been immune to flogging.

* * *

Small Timer, who is Scotch, says the nicest part about the jokes on closeness of the Scot is that it gets him reams of publicity that would break his heart if he had to pay for it.

* * *

Richard A. Rowland, former Pittsburgher who became a film magnate, has resigned management of the Paramount literary department to join the Fox film organization as a vice president. He was high in First National before Warner Brothers acquired control.

STATE DELAYS AUTO CHECK

HARRISBURG, Aug. 12.—There will be no fall motor vehicle inspection this year, Benjamin G. Eynon, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, today announced.

The amended vehicle code, as approved by Gov. Pinchot abolishes official headlight adjusting stations and official brake stations and also the official inspection stations of the annual inspection campaigns. These distinct types of stations will be replaced by stations designated "Official Inspection Stations." This section of the code does not become effective until January 1, 1932.

Persons desiring to qualify their place of business as official motor vehicle inspection stations will be required by the Department of Revenue to pass rigid tests.

CRASH REVEALS HEIRESS WED

YORK, Pa., Aug. 12.—(INS)—Marriage of Doris Dempsey, daughter of W. W. Dempsey, millionaire lumberman here, to G. H. Lewis was disclosed here yesterday in a report from Kingston, N. C., that the heiress and her husband had been injured in a motor accident.

The girl received publicity early this year when she ran away from her home here to New York, where she was apprehended by police in company with an escaped girl convict and three youths.

She had planned to go to Connecticut and wed one of the youths, the girl told New York authorities, and expressed herself dissatisfied with humdrum life in a wealthy home.

MILITARY RITES FOR AIR VET

Funeral services for Sergt. Weymen Tevis, 28, of the 28th Bombing Squadron, United States aerial service, who died in the Philippine Islands on May 17, will be held in the Chateau Post, Chateau and Sheffield streets, Friday, August 14, at 2:30 p. m. He was a World War veteran, having enlisted at the age of 16 in the 80th Division. He had been in the Army since.

He leaves his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William Tevis, of 1126 Sunday street, North Side; five brothers, Joseph, Clyde and Earl, of Pittsburgh, and George, of California, and one sister, Mrs. [illegible] Hawkins, of Pittsburgh. Military services will be held with interment in Uniondale Cemetery.

GIRL COLLAPSES IN RESTAURANT

Apparently suffering from an overdose of sleeping tablets, a well dressed young woman, about 22, collapsed in Monarch Restaurant at 860 Western avenue, North Side, today, and was taken to Allegheny General Hospital. Her condition is not serious.

According to Lucian Kazipes, a waitress, of 802 East Diamond street, the woman has been coming to the restaurant for the last two months.

No clues to her identity have been found. Examination of her pocketbook disclosed some money, and a box containing about two dozen of the tablets she is believed to have taken.

Berlin's Seven-Foot Mayor Hails Walker

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Europe's tallest mayor unbent, leaned down and shook hands with Mayor James J. Walker of New York today, welcoming him to Berlin. Mr. Walker, hatless and poised, smiled broadly as he looked up into the face of the dignified Heinrich Sahm, seven feet two in his stocking feet.

Explorers Discover 'Great Wall' in Peru

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Members of the youthful Shippee-Johnson Peruvian expedition reported in cables received here today that they had established beyond doubt the existence of a great wall of Peru, similar in style and size to the great wall of China.

Three months ago, the four youths from New Jersey flew over the Andes and took photographs of what they thought was a gigantic wall-like structure.

Bee Causes Wreck Of Truck, Man Hurt

LISBON, O., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—A bumblebee, zig-zagging comfortably homeward, detoured through the open window of a truck cab into the face of Driver A. R. White, resulting in the wreck and burning of the truck and cargo.

White, whose home is at 1417 Sheffield street, Pittsburgh, was uninjured, but his helper, Andrew Herman, also of Pittsburgh, was bruised.

Officer Kills Wife, Baby, Shoots Self

TROY, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—John J. Drohan, a police officer, today shot and killed his wife and an eight-months old infant, and then wounded himself in the chest.

Police said Drohan had not intended to shoot the baby, a niece of Mrs. Drohan. The bullet struck Mrs. Drohan and then penetrated a wall, killing the infant as it lay asleep in its crib.

Tourists Return From Sea Voyage

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hauston, Miss Edna Hauston, Mr. and Mrs. Max Gluck, Mrs. R. L. Dunlap, Miss Cecilia Kendall, Miss Helen Vogel and William Arnold, all of Pittsburgh, returned last night from a week-end cruise in the S.S. Mauretnia.

The Pittsburgh vacationists and their fellow passengers called at Nova Scotia during the course of their northern voyage.

Knox Buys Control Of Chicago News

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Control of the Chicago Daily News was purchased today from the executors of the Walter A. Strong estate by Frank Knox, publisher of the Manchester (N. H.) Union Leader, and Theodore T. Ellis, of Worcester, Mass., manufacturer and former publisher of the Worcester Telegram-Gazette.

Liner Warns Guests Of Bootleg Racket

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—A new variation of the old "right off the boat" racket has been exposed. Notices have been posted in the liner Mauretania warning passengers against the bootlegger who telephones to them after they land that he is "the steward who served you on board," then delivers a quantity of colored water or homemade whisky.

Japanese Demand Fliers Be Punished

TOKIO, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Patriotic societies and reactionary individuals clamored today for the punishment of Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., American aviators, for taking photographs while flying over Japanese territory.

The two men appeared before the public prosecutor for further questioning, smiling but tense.

A new loaf of bread... HEARTH-FLAVORED because more thoroughly baked!

THIS new bread has real hearth-flavor like that of the large, brown loaves whose rich fragrance filled old-time country kitchens.

Like the prized loaves of other days, Wheat King Jumbo is ample-sized. Because of its long, wide, low shape, it has one third more baking surface than most present-day breads.

More surface to absorb direct oven heat from top, bottom and sides . . . less distance for this heat to travel in reaching the center of the loaf.

No wonder Wheat King Jumbo is thoroughly baked! Try it today and you, too, will learn how fine in texture this family-loaf is, how rich in flavor.

Ask for Wheat King Jumbo at your grocer's as soon as possible.

READ THIS!

CROSS SECTION OF JUMBO!

This shows the difference in shape between Jumbo and ordinary bread. Notice Jumbo's much greater baking area. That's why every loaf of Jumbo is so good—it's thoroughly baked all the way through.

Should a Girl Fight Openly For Man She Wants?

Would you give up the chance of winning the man you loved, because your girl friend had taken a fancy to him?

That's the very considerable problem which Conchita is facing.

For a year she has been crazy about her Hero. And he has shown cheering signs that he isn't indifferent to her.

Now, after an absence, he is coming home. And when she heard that news, Conchita was crazy with delight. She'd win him come what might. But just as she was trying to decide whether she'd meet him in her new orchid georgette, or her jade green sport suit ——

A PROBLEM

Along came the girl friend, knowing nothing of the big dream, and confessed she loved him, too.

And now what's Conchita to do?

Is everything fair in love 'n' war? Has she a right to fight for her man openly? Or should she make the Big Magnanimous Gesture, give her Girl Friend her blessing, and fade from the picture?

Which would you do?

Give way to the G. F.? Or go after the B. F.?

Dear Sally:

"I am so thankful that there is someone like you, to take our troubles to, and I hope you can help me.

"I feel all washed up, and I know that a word from you will help me to brace up and take it on the chin if I must. A year ago I met a young man and fell in love with him. I think he liked me, too. I heard many favorable things about him, and I was told he said nice things about me.

SHOCKING REMARK

"Now, he is expected to come home in a few weeks, and here is the big problem. There is another girl who loves him, too, and she happens to be my dearest girl friend. I have kept my own feelings about him to myself, but I am sure that it is really love. He is so fine, everything a girl could honor and feel proud of, but I've never said anything about the way I felt.

"The other day, this friend confessed to me that she loved him. I was shocked speechless when she told me, though she said he had never told her he loved her. If I hadn't been sitting down at the time, I don't know what I would have done, it took me so by surprise. I felt dizzy. I didn't know what to say. And now—I don't know what to do.

"I know he will ask to take me out, when he comes. Shall I turn him down, pretend I don't like him, for her sake? Or accept, and hurt her and lose her friendship? Oh, I want them both. I don't know what to do. It hurts me terribly. I say as little as I can, but oh! Please help me!

"CONCHITA."

Well, you do seem to be in a tough spot, don't you, youngster? The old, old spot, between love and friendship . . .

And how'll you solve the riddle?

FOR BOY TO DECIDE

You'll have to let the boy solve it, Conchita. After all, it isn't up to you, or to your Girl Friend, to choose which one of you he prefers (if he should prefer either of you, which he may not) is up to him . . . and after the choice is made (if there is a choice), the other'll have to be a good sport, and take it on the chin.

Then shall you be nice to him, in spite of what your friend has told you? Why not, my dear? You say that she admits he has never led her to believe he cared for her other than as a friend . . . then the field is open. The fact that she, or you, may believe you love him, doesn't give either of you any strings on him, or any right to try to decide his fate for him.

And if a little encouragement would make him prefer you to her, he wouldn't be much use to her anyway.

So take heart. Be fair and square . . . but don't feel that you must throw this boy at the girl friend because she would like to have him.

Fay King Commends Travelers Who Take Great Care of Their Pets

By FAY KING

Celebrities are not the only travelers who attract attention in the big stations.

The parade of pets arriving or departing is also of great interest. And it is nice to see that they are not left behind.

Before the parrot fever occurred one saw no end of Pollys portered about in their temporary traveling "cage" which was a wooden box with chicken wire on the open side, and sawdust on the floor.

In a theatrical group I saw a little chorus girl with a big, blinking, yellow-eyed black cat. She told me he was a great traveler and didn't mind trains or crowds at all.

It is nice to see pets loved and well cared for, as they are so dependent upon their owners.

Include Cod Liver Oil in Baby's Daily Diet

It is now an accepted fact most babies will benefit if cod-liver oil is given regularly before the end of the first month of life. In fact, it has been recommended by many authorities that the use of cod-liver oil should begin by the end of the second week.

Dr. Copeland

Rickets is, as a rule, a condition that starts early, in the first months of life. It appears when the baby is growing most rapidly. Unfortunately, it may not be recognized until quite late, indeed not until weakness of the muscles and deformity of the bones become conspicuous. It is a condition that may occur in breast-fed, as well as in artificially fed babies.

Babies with rickets become restless, irritable, pale and constipated. The resistance of the infant is lowered. He becomes more susceptible to such infections as bronchitis and pneumonia.

The underlying disease may be entirely cured or prevented by giving the baby sufficient direct sunlight, or by giving cod liver oil. It is advised that both be employed.

Cod liver oil prevents rickets. It strengthens the baby's muscles and his bony framework. Similar to the action of sunlight, it supplies the necessary vital force to prevent the disease.

Cod liver oil is particularly useful in climates where children do not receive sufficient sunlight. Where there is lack of sunlight, it is best to give it regularly twice a day. This preventive may well be given throughout the first two years of the child's life.

You may begin giving this medicine in half teaspoonful doses twice a day. By the end of six weeks the amount may be increased to one teaspoonful twice a day. At about the fourth month the amount may be increased to two teaspoonfuls twice a day and this dosage may be continued through the first two years.

Answers to Health Questions

Rollo. Q—Would overindulgence in eating stewed carrots cause any trouble? The patient has been in ill health and has recently acquired an almost greedy appetite for this vegetable.

A—Overindulgence in any food is wrong, but carrots are healthful and nutritious and contain valuable mineral salts and vitamins.

* * *

J. T. C. Q—What causes nervousness and how can it be overcome?

A—There are any number of causes—it would be rather difficult to advise without knowing something about the case in question.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

In the summer time, more even than in cold weather, scalp and hair need hot oil treatments. Olive oil or mineral oil will serve. Heat in a small tin, part the hair at various places, apply with cotton and rub the scalp for 10 minutes. Shampoo the hair next day.

Watch out that the arms don't take on too dark a tone from the lappings of the rays of the sun. Arms don't whiten easily in the autumn time; protection is easier than cure. When the complexion and neck get their quota of cream at night, give the oily leavings to the arms. Massage vigorously; friction helps to remove dead skin cells.

Investigation Reveals Message from Bandits

Neither Lillian nor I uttered a sound as we saw Harry Underwood run swiftly away from the "dud" which he had just thrust into the bucket of water, but her hand gripped mine so hard that I bore the mark long after. Then my father spoke with quick reassurance.

"That doesn't necessarily mean he expects an explosion. It's only the usual precaution which anyone but a foolhardy and inexperienced person would employ. You will see him return to it in a short time."

And, indeed, it was but two or three minutes before we saw him walking toward the water bucket again. He peered into it, then reached in and took out the dud. Then he waved his hand with the signal he had agreed upon with Lillian.

"You can unlock that door now," she said.

I took the key with a feeling of distinct depression. There would be no rapturous heights of emotion for me when I should open that closet door for I knew I should face an exceedingly angry man who would not hesitate to empty the vials of his wrath upon the nearest person, and in the first ebullition of his anger would not remember to rein in his temper as he had done ever since I told him of the promise of the baby daughter now sleeping safely upstairs.

But I could not always dwell upon the heights. I reminded myself, as I walked steadily to the closet door. Dicky was still in the field, and while I was still a little distance from the door I called loudly:

"It's all right, Dicky. Harry's safe, and he wants you."

I was conscious that my voice was quavering and threatening to break. But I could not help it. I was at the end of my endurance and I had all I could do to stand erect and brace myself to endure my husband's certain anger as I unlocked the door, unbolted it and threw it open, to see—

Dicky bent double with laughter as garganluan as it was unexpected to me! I realized, of course, that his emotion while in the closet had been as much horrible anxiety for his friend as wrath against him for the way in which he had made it impossible for Dicky to go with him into danger, and that his rebound into mirth was a much nervous reaction as the quavering of my voice and the trembling of my body.

"The eternally blistered old son of a sea cook!" he said. "He must have been planning this stunt out ever since Dad said that dud would have to be looked after again. Wait till this is over. What I'll do to him. The only trouble is that once I've laughed, I can't stay properly wrathful! Oh, sweetheart, what is it? I'm so sorry."

Something in my face and the way I was gripping the newel must have told him something of what I was feeling. And when his arms went around me and he murmured remorseful endearments with his face close to mine, I yielded utterly for a minute to the shelter he gave me and forgot that his friend was waiting for him.

"I mustn't wait, sweetheart," Dick said, and I gave him an anxious little push.

"No, no! Hurry!" I exclaimed, and he dashed toward the door.

"Dicky was laughing when he went past us," Lillian said wonderingly.

"I think he was exceedingly angry and terribly anxious until I called to him that Harry was all right," I said. "Then the reaction sent him into gusts of laughter. He'll be all right now."

"I'm so glad," Lillian sighed contentedly. "They've both been such bricks, it would have been so bad to have had any rift within the lute. Look. They're coming back, and Harry has emptied all of the water out of the bucket. The thing mustn't be dangerous at all."

But that it was highly significant to all of us, we realized when the two men came up to the steps, and Harry Underwood said deferentially to my father, "You called the turn, Chief. There is a message inside."

Correct Manners

A Thought of Beauty

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I read and enjoy your column all the time, so I am sending to you an idea I think is beautiful. Perhaps you can have it put into print so it will do a lot of people good.

We are a family of six girls, all married, no mother or in-laws. The sisters talked over the idea of all adopting the older sister to take the place of mother, and on Mother's Day we send her gifts and messages of love in memory of the mother passed on. This has been a custom now for three years and has brought so much real pleasure to both donor and receiver, I wanted to pass the idea along for others perhaps situated as we are.

MRS. S.

This is indeed a thought of great beauty, and with a very appreciative heart I pass it on to the readers of the column. How glorious it is to have someone think of such a holy thought, and to think to pass it on to others, in all its shining loveliness.

The idea touched me especially deeply because many of the circumstances that you name were true for me too. My mother too passed on when I was a young girl, and a dearly-loved older married sister gave me an affection and a loving care that I shall never forget. But before Mother's Day was a reality, she too passed on. So on Mother's Day I pledge my memorial love to both these fine women. I rejoice with you, dear friend, that your memorial can be to the living . . . and my dearest greetings to you and to her, and to your devoted sisters.

Banquet Co-Operation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. If the given hour of a banquet is six, is it property to arrive promptly at six or a little later?

2. When being ushered to a table, is it good form to take the escort's arm? J. P.

1. It is courteous to the hosts to arrive on time. It isn't easy to arrange a banquet when everyone of the guests lends his or her share of co-operation, but it is made unnecessarily difficult when guests are late and otherwise non-cooperative.

2. No.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

Unsung New Yorkers—No. 85

JUST TO USE different names for a change, we'll call them Harold and Ann. I'm getting tired of Mary and John, and I suppose you are too. At any rate, Harold and Ann were two of the happiest people you have ever met. And they were married, too, which makes it all the more remarkable.

At the time I'm alleged to have met them, Harold and Ann were employed by the Smyths, a very wealthy family with one of those estates you read about on Long Island. Harold was the chauffeur for the family and Ann acted as governess to the two little Smyths. They were not, however, the ordinary chauffeur and governess. By no means.

Both of them were college graduates. The [illegible] a man who orders a [illegible] on the [illegible] Neither [illegible] both [illegible] for [illegible] Nothing [illegible] than [illegible]

I'd like to go," she admitted to herself, but it would mean leaving Harold. And that's something I wouldn't do for anything in the world.

Ann, on the other hand, could have secured an excellent position as the assistant head of an exclusive girls' boarding school in the South. She never said a word to Harold about it, not even when she turned it down.

I'd like to go," she admitted to herself, but it would mean leaving Harold. And that's something I wouldn't do for anything in the world.

That's love, my friends. Real honest love. And fine, excellent starvation.

As I told you, back in the beginning, Harold and Ann took that job with the Smyths. They took it when things looked blackest, and they were quite surprised when everything turned out nicely.

The positions were easy and paid quite well. Running an automobile wasn't quite the right work for an ambitious young engineer, but it was better than running an elevator. Teaching the Smyth youngsters not to sneer when company was around was not the educational system that Ann had sought to develop, but it was better than nothing at all. So—

In addition, the two had each other. It seemed to mean more to them than anything else. Each night, when their duties were over, they'd stroll about the magnificent grounds and talk things over.

You see, honey," Harold would say, "things haven't turned out so badly. We're putting a little money aside each week, and before we know it we'll be able to rest until we get something better.

Mr. Smyth isn't a bad guy when you get to know him, even though he is pudgy and fat and bald-headed. And Mrs. Smyth can be decent enough when she wants to, in spite of the fact that she has the worst society complex I ever encountered. I guess the kids are all right, too, if you don't let them get in your hair.

All in all, sweetheart, I guess we're pretty lucky. And some day everything's going to be just grand.

Whereupon his wife would bestow upon him one of those devoted pats upon the head.

Never mind, the some day, Hal," she would murmur. Everything is perfect just as it is. I get along very well with Mrs. Smyth, and her husband has always been very nice. And I'm growing to like those children very much, too.

I wouldn't care if we stayed here forever, darling. After all, it's peaceful and lovely. We're servants, but we're happy. And there are millions of people in this world who'd be only too glad to change places with us.

As long as we have each other, Harold, we'll always be content.

At this point of the conversation I will draw the curtain. It's all just too beautiful. At least, I think so. And what are you going to do, argue with me?

As you might expect in a Hellinger column, this bliss didn't last long. Soon there was sad news. Mr. Smyth was going to Europe to see his parents, and he was taking the children with him. Ann was to go along as governess. While Harold was to remain on the Long Island estate and serve Mrs. Smyth. The couple were notified that if this arrangement did not please them, the Smyths would have to employ two other people.

Harold and Ann talked it over at great length and decided that it would be best to keep their jobs. After all, the separation would last but six months, and they would all be for the best. Thus in due time she sailed away.

It goes without saying that Harold was broken-hearted at that pier. He was broken-hearted at home for several weeks after. At first he wrote every day, and so did Ann. Then they wrote three times a week. Then once a week. And finally, after five months had gone by, Harold received one of those letters that have put so many good men in a padded cell.

Ann was sorry, but she had learned to love Mr. Smyth. Mr. Smyth had learned to love her, too, which was equally important. She had already taken steps to divorce Harold and would marry Mr. Smyth as soon as the latter bird could divorce his wife. She hoped, really that Harold wouldn't be too angry.

I'd like to tell you that Harold's reply was written with shaking fingers and that the tears blurred the pages as he wrote. But like little George with his hatchet, I cannot tell a lie. The best I can do is quote the last paragraph of Harold's letter to Ann.

"So you see, Ann," he wrote, "it's really all right. Your letter now makes it so easy for me to tell you that Mrs. Smyth has already sued her husband for divorce over here. And as soon as she gets hers and you get yours, she and I are getting married." . . .

STEUBENVILLE MAYOR LOSES

STEUBENVILLE, O., Aug. 12 — Mayor Oliver R. Conley, candidate for third term, was beaten for the Republican nomination yesterday by James C. McMaster, Pennsylvania Railroad conductor. State inspectors sat in on the vote count after they had calmed an angry crowd of voters by permitting them to cast their ballots after hundreds of registration cards failed to be distributed.

WELLSVILLE, O., Aug. 12 — Mayor George S. Hardman, seeking a second term, was defeated for re-nomination in the Republican primary yesterday by former Mayor W. I. Fogo, who retired two years ago after serving five terms. Fogo will be opposed by W. H. Daugherty, who won the Democratic nomination.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Aug. 12 — Mayor Ralph C. Beardsley, Democrat, will be opposed for a fourth term by O. J. Herrington, Sr., Republican, as a result of the primary yesterday.

POWDER SEIZED AT HOOVER DAM

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Aug. 12 (AP) — United States Marshal Jake Fulmer today had in his possession a case of dynamite and a supply of caps, taken yesterday from a motor car about to enter the government reservation in which is located Boulder City, base of operations for Hoover Dam.

Fulmer seized the explosive to thwart any possible violence growing out of a shutdown of dam work because of the contractors' refusal to accede to wage and working condition demands of workmen.

Third Order Elects Pittsburgh Priest

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12 (AP) — Birth control, social eugenics and companionate marriage are robbing American womanhood of its dignity and offer serious menace to the home, Miss Catherine McDonough, writer and lecturer of New York, told delegates to the Third Order of St. Francis quinquennial convention here.

Louisville, Ky., was chosen for the third quinquennial meeting in 1936. National officers elected to serve for five years included the Very Rev. Bede Hess, chairman of the National Executive Board and Father Sigmund Cratz, of Pittsburgh, vice president.

Hoover Cousin Weds At West Branch, Ia.

WEST BRANCH, Ia., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Miss Edyth Marie Harvey, a second cousin of President Hoover, was married here Sunday afternoon to William Glenn Harbit of Mount Vernon, Ia. The Rev. Guy Harvey, father of the bride and the President's cousin, performed the ceremony at the Friends' Church.

President and Mrs. Hoover sent a wedding bouquet of white roses from the White House conservatory.

FRANK & SEDER "GOODWILL DAYS" NEXT FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Last Days of Department Buyers' Sale

Some Department Heads Answer Some Unasked Questions

GERTRUDE COLLINS, Milliners Buyer—Every customer who buys a Hat here on Friday or Saturday will be a Goodwill Customer for Frank & Seder because the values are the greatest I have ever seen in ten years.

SAM HALDMAN, Furniture Buyer—The whole town is talking about Frank & Seder Furniture values but come on Goodwill Days and see the wonderful surprises we have in store for you.

MISS SULLIVAN, Corsets and Negligee—Every one of us on the third floor (that's the floor for readers, not dancers) here in the Frank & Seder Corset and Negligee Department is prepared with the most wonderful bargains in New Fall merchandise for Goodwill Days.

M. S. KIMMEL, Rug Buyer—I want you folks to know that the manufacturer gave us a large part of their profits so we could give you the biggest bargains of the year in Rugs and Draperies on Goodwill Days.

MRS. GANLEY, Fur Dept.—I have been in the Fur business for more years than I care to remember, but never have I seen such assortments and values in Fur Coats as we are going to offer on Goodwill Days.

GEORGE FITZPATRICK, Merchandise Controller—I have gone over the Buyers' orders of merchandise for Goodwill Days, and you can take my word for it they certainly bought the goods at remarkably low prices. If the public knows bargains we ought to crowd the store.

MAURICE ARNFELD, Mgr. Men's Departments—In all the years I have been doing business with Hart Schaffner & Marx never have we been able to offer clothing values to equal our Goodwill Days offering at $22—and I personally urge every one of our regular customers to take advantage of this extraordinary opportunity.

MATTHEW B. GRANT, Blankets and Domestics—There ought to be a crowd waiting for the doors to open to get the bargains I have for them in Blankets and Domestics. I have prepared for capacity business Friday and Saturday, because every economical family will want these enormous savings.

JAMES ALTER, Supt. Bargain Basement—Well, the boys certainly came through this trip with Bargains that'll crowd our Basement the minute the doors open on Friday. You THINK you've bought Bargains but wait until Goodwill Days and you'll get the surprise of your life.

Goodwill Offerings for the Whole Family!

Friday and Saturday will be the LAST DAYS of the Department Buyers' Sale. And in appreciation of the splendid response of the public to this August Event our Buyers have designated them as GOODWILL DAYS. But it will be much more than merely a name. It will take the form of GOODWILL offerings featuring values that will make this a long-to-be-remembered occasion for those who come.

IF YOU LIVE OUT OF TOWN

If you live out of town we urge you to plan to come to this sale on Friday and Saturday. If you live as far away as 200 miles it will more than repay you to make the trip. Our store is just filled from Basement to roof with new Fall merchandise and whether you need wearing apparel, or furniture, rugs, bedding, domestics, etc., etc., you will have the opportunity to make an enormous saving on Goodwill Days of the Frank & Seder Department Buyers' Sale.

MANUFACTURERS INTERESTED IN GOODWILL DAY

It is natural that manufacturers should take a special interest in these Goodwill Days because they were planned by the Department Buyers. Some of these buyers have been doing business with these manufacturers for many, many years, and there has been created a friendship as well as business association. That is why so much of the goods that will be offered on Goodwill Days has been given to our Buyers at such unusual concessions. And the public is going to make the savings. After all there is some sentiment in business and every manufacturer is as anxious as our own Buyers to see two great big Days, and we must say that the manufacturers have shown their goodwill in a most practical way by sacrificing their profits at the beginning of the Fall season.

IN HOLLYWOOD LIARS ARE TELLING THE TRUTH

They say that in Hollywood things are so bad that even the liars are complaining. But we get a different picture here in Pittsburgh. Indications point to a definite upturn in industry; more people are going to work, and with prices down to the basis that Frank & Seder will feature on Friday and Saturday brighter conditions are in store for most families.

IT'S WORTH A LOT TO US

The Goodwill of a customer is worth a lot to any store. She is a goodwill messenger. She shows her purchase to a friend; and tells her what a wonderful value it is. She speaks of the service and attention she received; how nice the saleslady was who waited on her and so forth and so on. That's why Frank & Seder do everything possible to satisfy the customer.

LET'S TALK COMMON CENTS

Yes, we mean CENTS. Just now everybody is thinking even of the value in SAVING CENTS. A few cents saved here, a few cents saved there, and you'll be surprised what all these small savings on purchases finally totals. On small items you will save MANY CENTS at Frank & Seder Friday and Saturday—and on the larger items you can figure your SAVINGS IN TERMS OF MANY DOLLARS.

FURNITURE VALUES THAT WILL CREATE GOODWILL FOR OUR NEW DEPT.

Our Furniture Buyer has prepared to offer Living Room, Dining Room and Bedroom Suites, as well as Odd Pieces of Furniture on Goodwill Days at prices that will establish a new record for value giving. As our department is only a year old, every piece of Furniture we feature, regardless of how low the price, must of necessity be brand new. We urge every housewife in Pittsburgh to wait until Goodwill Days before buying furniture. This is the opportunity we have been waiting for to create goodwill for this new department; and we expect to make a multitude of new friends and customers with the extraordinary offerings on Friday and Saturday.

Now Is a Good Time TO OPEN A CHARGE ACCOUNT

We know that because of the extraordinary values for Goodwill Days of our Department Buyers' Sale, thousands of new customers will be attracted to our store. Many of them may desire the convenience of a Charge Account in the new Credit Offices on the Third Floor.

COL. FRANKLIN BLACKSTONE, Credit Manager—I'm always glad to see customers in my office to open charge accounts, said Col. Blackstone. Goodwill Days is a good time to start.

Do YOU Really Want to Save Money or Are You Making Conversation?

Are YOU TALKING about saving money, and then deliberately turning your back on every opportunity to do it? That's pretty plain talk . . . but the Department Buyers of FRANK & SEDER are going to sell Men's, Women's, Boys' and Girls' Apparel, Furniture, Rugs, Blankets, Domestics, etc., Friday and Saturday at the LOWEST PRICES IN A GENERATION! In fact even merchants and manufacturers are surprised at the values we have been offering. What are YOU going to do about? Are you going to continue to TALK about SAVING, or are you coming HERE to buy what you and your family need for the next several months at these SENSATIONAL SAVINGS?

DID YOU EVER RUN A STORE?

Frank & Seder department heads are given the opportunity in August to run the store. This idea developed several years ago, and when it was tried it was so successful that it has become a fixed policy of Frank & Seder ever since. After all, it is only when one is given full responsibility is it possible to measure one's true value. And this is as true of an organization as it is of an individual. At one time August was looked upon as an off month—a little too late for summer goods and a little too early for fall merchandise. But all this has been changed at this store. The department buyers discovered that by working closely with manufacturers and placing their orders for fall at a time when the manufacturers needed business that it was possible to save a great deal of money. Then, fortified with these advantageous purchases, they were in a position to offer this merchandise to the public below regular prices. The result has been that thousands of families in Pittsburgh are glad to anticipate their fall and winter needs in exchange for the wonderful savings they obtain. This month, more than ever, the public has been eager to buy wherever they could save, and that is why the Department Buyers' Sale which comes to a close on Saturday has been such an outstanding success. But we want everybody to come on the last two days when they will have the opportunity to share in Goodwill Bargains that they will remember until the next Department Buyers' Sale.

SNAPPERS

The man who buys and saves has enough to buy another day.

* * *

About the only man who seems to have lost the Goodwill of the public is the Weather Man. But he'll find it Friday and Saturday at Frank & Seder.

* * *

Some one said that business must be bad because even the liars are complaining.

* * *

Persons who used to pay rent for homes and then live most of the time in cabarets are back home again.

* * *

These are the times when even families who have plenty of Dollars use their Common Sense to save in their buying.

* * *

It looks as if everybody has just about made up his mind that he's been wearing a long face long enough.

* * *

It seems the only way a man can save money now-a-days is to SPEND it—at Frank & Seder's on Goodwill Days.

Our Budget Buying Plan

We are not alone offering unusual values in Hart Schaffner & Marx Men's Clothing, but the Budget Buying Plan enables the man of modest income to buy the best clothing without making it a burden. You may select a Suit or Topcoat on Goodwill Days and pay for it in Ten Weekly Payments.

*The department heads have been busily engaged with the manufacturers assembling bargains to make the last the GREATEST DAYS of the entire sale.

The manufacturers, glad of the opportunity to show their good will to the buyers who do so much business with them throughout the year, sacrificed a part of their profits so that we should be able to offer NEW WANTED merchandise at LESS THAN PREVAILING PRICES.

Fall is just around the corner, and when you can buy APPAREL and HOME FURNISHINGS at the UNUSUAL SAVINGS we will offer on Friday and Saturday, it will be the height of extravagance to delay your purchases. We personally urge you in the name of EVERY BUYER to make EVERY POSSIBLE EFFORT to take advantage of these bargains. This can't be such a profit-making event, but it will bring CAPACITY CROWDS and make thousands of NEW FRIENDS and CUSTOMERS for us, and thus increase the volume of GOODWILL we already enjoy.

ARRANGE YOUR HOME AFFAIRS SO YOU CAN BE HERE FRIDAY OR SATURDAY!

Check up what you need in your home—look over the family needs in the way of apparel—and keep in mind outfitting the children for school. You will be amazed at how much you will save.

To the Public:—

THE undersigned, on behalf of the DEPARTMENT BUYERS of FRANK & SEDER, take this opportunity to express our appreciation for the generous support you have given the event which bears our name. We feel more than repaid for the time and effort invested, and for the sacrifices we made in order to give our customers the greatest values in a generation.

AS A farewell "thank you" we have planned to make Friday and Saturday (the last two days of the Sale) GOODWILL DAYS, and every one of us has personally prepared SURPRISE BARGAINS that will be a revelation in value giving. And every Department Buyer, knowing what extraordinary offerings he has assembled, urges EVERY REGULAR FRANK & SEDER CUSTOMER to make every possible effort to be here FRIDAY and SATURDAY. The whole city ought to crowd here these two days IF people REALLY WANT TO SAVE MONEY!

One of the favorite meeting places on summer afternoons of society remaining in town or here between visits to resorts is the spacious Allegheny Country Club with its flower decked terraces.

Among those entertaining luncheon parties there yesterday was Mrs. Brook Cuddy, who entertained a large group of friends in honor of Mrs. William Slater Charnley, of Pasadena, Cal. Mrs. Charnley, the daughter of Mrs. James G. Pontefract of Sewickley, is visiting here.

* * *

Nancy Lee Byers and her brother, B. K. Byers, have gone to Watch Hill, where they'll join their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Byers, for a cruise on their yacht, Bilg.

* * *

Yesterday when I was talking about the East Hampton Horse Show to be an event of Saturday at the Long Island resort, I forgot to mention that Mrs. Ogden M. Edwards is on the women's committee for the show. Dr. Edwards is chairman.

* * *

Mrs. Edna M. Black of Wightman street with her daughter, Marion, will leave today for New York. Later they'll go to Boston and then to Rock Neck, East Gloucester, Mass. They'll return in September so that Marion may enter her senior year at the Winchester School.

The A. F. Brauns and their daughter, Elizabeth, are expected today in New York on the S. S. Columbus. After stopping at the St. Regis for a short time, they'll return to Pittsburgh, it's expected.

Sarah Elizabeth Hannan Weds Douglas Hamilton

In St. Stephen's Episcopal Church on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock the marriage of Miss Sarah Elizabeth Hannan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Winslow Hannan of Darlington road, and Douglas Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton of Bellefonte street, took place. The Rev. Dean L. Pattchell officiated.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a princesse gown of ivory satin with ivory velvet hat of the Eugenie period. Her bouquet of white roses and baby's breath was tied with white tulle and satin ribbon.

The matron of honor, the bride's sister, Mrs. Edward Flynn, was gowned in blue satin, made with a short jacket collared in white fur. Her hat was of a darker blue and she carried pink roses and delphinium. Mrs. Edmund Heinatz and Mrs. Clark Hagan, sisters of the bridegroom, were bridesmatrons and wore gowns similar to Mrs. Flynn's but made of beige satin. Their hats were of brown velvet and their arm bouquets were in Dresden effect and were tied with yellow.

The men in the party included the best man, Thomas Hamilton, brother of the bridegroom, and the ushers, Robert Hannan and Louis Marohnic.

At the small reception which followed in the Hannan home, Mrs. Hannan, wearing dark blue velvet with a blue-plumed small black hat, and Mrs. Charles Banker, Mr. Hamilton's godmother, wearing blue lace, received with the bridal couple. After a motor trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will make their home in St. James street.

Miss Elizabeth Hulton To Marry on August 20

Miss Elizabeth Hulton of Oakmont, Pa., has named Thursday, August 20, as the date for her marriage to Oliver Warner, also of Oakmont. Following the ceremony that morning in the Hulton home with the two families and a few friends attending, there will be a wedding breakfast in the Oakmont Country Club.

Miss Hulton is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, a member of Delta Theta sorority, and has been a member of the faculty of the Wheeling High School.

Mr. Warner is a graduate of Pennsylvania State College. After a wedding trip through New England, Mr. Warner and his bride will be at home in Philadelphia.

First Wedding Is Held In 125-Year-Old Church

Although the Puckety United Presbyterian Church, near the Leechburg road, is 125 years old, the first wedding in its history took place Monday evening when Miss Hazel Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Snyder, of New Kensington, became the bride of Edward Pugsley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pugsley, of Arnold.

The Rev. Edwin McClintock, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony, and the bridal attendants were Miss Irene Stewart and John Fritz.

Reed Leslie, 84, the oldest member of the congregation, was among the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Pugsley will live in New Kensington.

Miss Virginia Painter To Wed Greensburg Man

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Painter, of West Newton, Pa., announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Virginia Painter, to Harry F. Keefner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam J. Keefner, of Greensburg, at a bridge party Mrs. Painter and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. Stanley Painter, gave recently in the Painter home.

Ambridge Girl Betrothed to Southerner

The engagement of Miss Hazel Grice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Grice, of Ambridge, to William P. Rierson, Jr., son of W. P. Rierson, of Charlotte, N. C., was announced Saturday afternoon at a bridge luncheon at Ye Old Dinner Bell, Coraopolis Heights. Covers were laid for 32 guests.

Miss Grice is a graduate of Wilson College and has been a member of the faculty of the Ambridge Junior High School for the past three years. Mr. Rierson is a graduate of Carlisle School of Bamburg, S. C., and The Citadel, Charleston, S. C. An early fall wedding is being planned.

Problem of Humidity Taken Up in Washington

WASHINGTON — Humidity closely cloaking the low-lying core of this capital city has turned many an official mind to what can be done about it.

Surgeon Gen. Hurgh S. Cumming of the Public Health Service said:

"The most oppressive summer I personally recall since 1918."

Invading the White House as well as buildings occupied by bureau workers, the heavy atmosphere has occasioned much complaint. It has even been said that numerous whirring fans on the state dining room floor did not bring comfort to those invited there to dine.

In an ideal place to study the humidity at its heatiest, Dr. Cumming has launched a series of experiments in the temporary wartime structure occupied by the Public Health Service.

Of tinder-box construction with low ceilings and poor ventilation, the public health offices could not be improved upon for taking readings of maximum humidities. This is being done daily with thermometers on every floor and corner.

Dr. James P. Leake was chosen to conduct these studies which purpose, Cumming said, "to work out some practical way of determine the relationship between humidity and the health of workers."

The Surgeon General said one of the objects was to work out an "effective temperature," which he described as "the time at which the bodily temperature begins to be affected by heat and humidity."

Such information, Dr. Cumming asserted, would be very valuable to industries — including, of course, governmental industries in Washington, one of the more humid cities.

Daughters of American Pioneers Fete Mrs. Saunders, Leaving Today for Home in West

As a farewell for Mrs. A. M. Saunders, retiring regent of Keystone Chapter, Daughters of American Pioneers, the chapter gave a beautifully appointed luncheon of 21 covers at the Congress of Clubs yesterday. Mrs. Saunders, who is leaving today for Bermuda and later for her new home in California, will be succeeded by the vice regent, Mrs. John Daub.

Original and appropriate were the decorations for the centerpiece represented an Indian attack upon a pioneer settlement, the little cabins and the figures being finely made. At either end were huge bowls of variegated garden flowers with three-branch candelabra holding red, white and blue tapers between them and the centerpiece. On the end table stood red bowls filled with the yellow of golden glow. Mrs. Joseph Baldridge, social chairman, was in charge. Mrs. William Price offered the invocation, and for program there was an appreciation of Mrs. Saunders and her regency from each member, and readings by Mrs. Edwin Louis Sherrick.

A picnic in September, president's day in October, a guest day in February, and the closing luncheon in June are listed as special events in the new year books of the Regent Square Woman's Club. The picnic, which opens the year, will be held in Frick Woods, and the president's day at the home of Mrs. A. W. Bass.

Regent Square

A report of the international art exhibit will be given at the November business meeting, a musical program will mark the Christmas meeting, and 1932 is slated to begin with a talk by Mrs. Roswell Johnson. Later speakers will be Chester M. Wallace, of Carnegie Tech, and Mrs. Alexander P. Lindsay, president of the Rockledge Garden Club. The year will also include a Pennsylvania Day and the annual business meeting.

Mrs. R. I. Slocum, as president of the club, will have on her staff Mrs. John Allison, vice president; Mrs. D. C. Spindler, recording secretary; Mrs. J. O. Wible, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. P. Heineman, financial secretary, and the treasurer, Mrs. L. C. Dean.

* * *

Mrs. J. L. Hannan will be hostess Friday evening for the meeting of the Bradford Woods Woman's Club, when "The American Indian in Legend and Song" will be discussed under the leadership of Mrs. J. C. Runk. The club will dispense with its monthly sewing in August.

Woman's Club to Begin New Year on October 6

The Woman's Club of the City of Pittsburgh will begin its fifty-seventh year on October 6, when the president's day reception, honoring Mrs. J. C. Schreiner, will be held. The new year books announce programs on municipal government, international peace, "The Theater Yesterday and Tomorrow," club ethics, poetry, aviation, drama and current events, among the speakers being Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, George Seibel, dramatic editor of the Sun-Telegraph; Mrs. J. G. Chalfant, chairman of education in the State Federation; Mrs. May T. Neff, chairman of the congress department of literature; District Attorney Andrew T. Park; E. J. Lauth, of the Maine Aeronaut Company, and Mrs. Ralph W. Johnston.

A novelty musical program, the valentine-birthday party, an old-fashioned party, the annual business meeting and the annual outing (this on June 7) are included in the year's events.

Second Congress Bridge Breakfast Attracts 200

Fifty tables were in play yesterday at the second summer bridge breakfast given by the Congress of Clubs. It was an especially enjoyable affair, made so by the attractive menu, the particularly pretty floral decorations and the comfortable surroundings. The decorations by the way were donated by the president, Mrs. T. M. Stahlman. Mrs. George L. W. Price, chairman for the day, Mrs. J. F. White and Mrs. John Daub who brought fresh blooms from their own gardens.

Several of the women entertained parties, among these hostesses being Mrs. Stahlman who had Mrs. H. H. Heinrich, president of the Dormont New Century Club; Mrs. Clarence W. Scheck and Mrs. G. D. Francisco as her guests.

Mrs. J. Charles Wilson, of the Oakland Women's Club, entertained its president, Miss Catherine Norton; Miss Emma Doherty and Mrs. W. F. Webb at another table. The table favors were pretty little folders of stationery.

The women in charge of the cookie, cake and jelly sale did a thriving business and added to the proceeds of the day.

Magazine Council Holds Meetings Through Summer

One of the few women's organizations which does not dispense with summer meetings is the National Better Magazines Council. The members met yesterday for their monthly business session in the Downtown Y. M. C. A. and decided to invite Parent Teacher Associations to co-operate in the war against objectionable magazines.

NEW MILLINERY MODE ALTERS SILHOUETTE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

PARIS, Aug. 12.—Tie your hat to the mode for having given us an almost revolutionary sartorial change. For there can be no mistake about it, the new millinery mode is going to alter the whole silhouette. Neither coats or frocks of ordinary or indifferent cut and line can be worn with the new hats. Even our style of hair dressing must undergo a radical change, unless we are accustomed to dressing it sleek to the head. The face with the delicate profile is going to get the long-awaited opportunity of showing it to the world framed by the saucy line of a tilted hat. First foreheads were exposed and now we are going to turn the cheek to an admiring world, so that it may be admired to the full, piquant features of a lovely profile. Thus does fashion aid and abet beauty.

* * *

HERE IS A SKETCH of two new hats seen at the tea-dance at Les Ambassadeurs last Saturday. The wide-brimmed model is of brown Milan straw with a matching velvet ribbon laced through the low side of the flat crown and brim and tying with a bow over the hair at the opposite side of the head. The extreme tilt of the hat suggests the dainty "bergeres" seen in the paintings of Watteau.

HEAVY CLOUDS HIDE METEORS

Heavy clouds last night prevented a view of the annual meteor shower, according to amateur astronomers. Leo Scanlon from his observatory in Van Buren street off Ivory road watched with several friends, but saw nothing because of the overcast skies, he reported. They will scan the heavens again tonight.

The meteors are thought to be remains of a disintegrated comet. The Allegheny Observatory made no effort to observe the shower, it was said.

MILDRED ETHEL LISICH

MISSING GIRL SOUGHT HERE

County detectives and constables from the office of Justice of the Peace H. J. Biggs of Wilmerding today were searching for Mildred Ethel Lisich, 16, of Adderly, who disappeared from her home last Wednesday.

The girl's parents were unable to give any cause for her disappearance. She was described as wearing either a light green or a red dress and tan shoes. She weighs 110 pounds and is 5 feet 1 inch in height. Her hair is dark brown and bobbed.

SIMPLE RITES FOR SLAIN BRIDE

Elizabeth Valek Hart, 19, five-day bride of John Hart, 21, slain by a rejected suitor because "he loved her too well," will be buried with simple rites at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the little cottage at Oakdale which was to have been her home.

Burial will be in the Oakdale Cemetery.

The body of Joseph Snyder, 28, a Coverdale miner, who lured the girl, a maid in a Dormont home, to her death in a lonely clump of woods on a hillside overlooking Coverdale, and then fired a bullet through his head, was "unclaimed" at the county morgue today.

The murder-suicide was revealed by Snyder in four letters he wrote friends, apparently, after he had killed Elizabeth. He told of his love, a love that was intensified when she eloped to Wellsburg last Thursday with Hart, and directed searchers to her body.

Diplomatic Spy Gives Lowdown On London Parley

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Notes of the London conference as jotted down by our diplomatic spy:

France wants to see what all the gold in the world looks like in a lump.

The Scotch refuse to exchange prisoners unless they get two for one.

The Cuban revolution was captured in Atlantic City.

Only one diplomat is named Edge. But they're all close to it.

There can be no peace until the diplomats have visited all the European vacation resorts at their government's expense.

Germany is baking the Soviet a cake for the anniversary of the five-year plan. It's made of flour and dynamite, and Poland wants to light the candles.

The Hoover and Young plans were fitted together very neatly. The dovetailing was done with an ax.

Mahatma Gandhi will arrive in London accompanied by a goat. No group picture complete without one.

America refused a German promissory note for its cotton crop. Cotton ain't that cheap.

Ambassador Edge is off for the moors to shoot grouse. There's a clause in the disarmament treaty that enables him to carry a shotgun if he pulls the trigger with his eyes closed.

Brandon Renews Clark Speakeasy List Charge

CONGRESSMEN WILL URGE COAL CONTROL

SAYS DIRECTOR BOASTED OF KNOWLEDGE

All Policemen Ordered to Report Places on Beats, Council Aspirant Asserts

Former Morals Court Magistrate A. D. Brandon, candidate for City Council, again charged that Public Safety Director James M. Clark has a list of all speakeasies and disorderly houses in the desk in his office. Brandon renewed the charge he made Sunday speaking in the Knoxville Methodist Episcopal Church.

Director Clark on Monday scoffed at Brandon's charge. The director said:

"Brandon must have gone crazy or else he is a terrible liar to make such charges against me. I have no such list and if I did it would not be in my desk but would be given to lieutenants for action."

RESENTS LIE CHARGE

Brandon's latest charge follows:

"Disliking to be called a liar by Director Clark, I wish to refute his statement in which he denied the possession of a list of all disreputable houses in the city.

"In December 1926, in the presence of Superintendent Walsh, Director Clark said to me: 'How are conditions in East Liberty, Brandon?'

"I replied that it was no Sunday School.

"Later I was accused by one of the Mayor's followers with having furnished Clark with such a list.

"I asked the director if such were true. He said:

"Why, Brandon, do you think I need you or any other man to furnish me with such a list? I have it. I am not as blind as some people think I am. I have a complete list of the entire city."

SEES INCOMPETENCE

Brandon also charged that if Clark does not have knowledge of all such places in the city, he convicts himself of gross incompetency and should resign to make way for someone who knows his business.

The former magistrate said that Clark could not help but have knowledge of all speakeasies and disorderly houses as reports of such places reach him daily. Brandon said:

"There is a standing order in the police department for every officer on the beat to report all violations of law or anything of a suspicious nature to his lieutenant and this in turn is passed on up to the director."

M'Nary Urges Sale Of Wheat to China

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Senator Charles L. McNary has recommended to the Farm Board that it sell 30,000,000 bushels of surplus American wheat at liberal terms to the Chinese government to relieve famine suffering and death in the Yangtse Valley.

Senator McNary telegraphed James C. Stone, chairman of the Farm Board, urging the board to give serious study to the plan.

LOCK NO. 4's WINNING!

Volunteer firemen of Lock No. 4 (the team in the foreground) winning over the Frankline Fire Company, Wilkins Township, in a water battle at Tarentum, scene of Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Association's annual convention.

FIREMEN FAVOR CONNELLSVILLE

Connellsville was apparently assured of the 1932 Western Pennsylvania firemen's convention as the annual gathering in Tarentum this afternoon prepared to make a selection along with election of officers. It was the only town whose invitation was placed before the convention, no such action being taken by Conneaut Lake up to 3 p. m.

According to expectations, George E. Cook, of Sharpsburg, and Henry M. Zundell, of Greensburg, were nominated yesterday for president.

The Tarentum Firemen's Association last night presented its historical pageant for the first time, in the flood-lighted Riverside Park. The pageant consisted of a series of episodes depicting the history of Western Pennsylvania.

The team from Lock No. 4 defeated the Franklin Fire Company, of Wilkins Township, in a water battle yesterday. Thursday and Friday nights women's teams from Arnold and Wilkins Township will clash.

KELLY TO HAVE '22 MEASURE REVIVED

Tariff to Curb Soviet's Anthracite Shipments in View; Murray Asks Parley

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Another campaign for federal regulation of the coal industry will be launched when Congress convenes.

Several representatives of coal producing states, convinced that drastic federal regulation of the industry's trade practices is necessary if the industry is to get on its feet, are preparing to introduce bills.

Representative Kelly (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, said he would revive his previous bill introduced in 1922 to this end.

New efforts also will be made to obtain a tariff on coal and to embargo shipments from Soviet Russia which are claimed to have injured the anthracite industry.

While the previous drive in Congress for regulation of the industry failed, the continued labor troubles and other difficulties have caused advocates of such measures to hope for better success this winter.

Murray Insists Hoover Call Coal Parley

Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, today suggested that President Hoover call a conference in Washington to discuss the ills of the coal industry, in view of developments since the last one.

Murray said:

"If President Hoover would issue an invitation to coal operators and representatives of the United Mine Workers to such a conference, the invitation would be generally respected, in view of the new developments since the last conference was held.

"Pending disposition of legislation by the next Congress, a federal commission should be created with powers to render assistance through the setting up of standards in the industry that would alleviate the stress and prevent the possibility of a crisis developing in the mining industry during the coming winter."

Coal operators with few exceptions said they did not see how such an invitation could be ignored.

Joseph T. Miller, former assistant fuel administrator of the Pittsburgh area during the World War, said:

"If the government would take steps to allow proper and reasonable consolidations of conflicting competitive interests and then create rates that would be just and equitable for coal, in my judgment the problem would be solved."

R. Templeton Smith of the Poland Coal Company said:

"Personally I believe the recent discussions have been helpful and we are probably nearer a solution of difficulties than we have been."

Coal Operators Awaking, Gov. Pinchot Comments

HARRISBURG, Aug. 12.—Without commenting directly on the plan of bituminous operators to have their industry declared a public utility, as revealed by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph last week, Gov. Pinchot said:

"The people of the Western Pennsylvania mining region should welcome the recent evidence that the coal operators are waking up. They have at last seriously undertaken to find a solution to the troubles which afflict the soft coal operators, the miners, and the communities which the mines keep alive.

"I am not commenting on the particular plans which have been suggested. They are still too vague for that. But I am glad that the operators have struck out along new lines.

"It is perfectly true that the soft coal problem cannot be solved by any action taken in Pennsylvania alone. Other soft coal states must be considered and included.

"The operators have made a good start. We are all waiting for the next step."

Spanish War Veterans Spin Service Yarns

Tall yarns and chuckling reminiscences were being exchanged today by survivors of the 11th Regiment, United States Volunteer Cavalry, gathered in reunion at the Fort Pitt Hotel.

Lincoln Sanders, of Kingston, Pa., whose claim to fame are that he was the only Welshman in the regiment, the first to joint the Survivors' Association and that he is the father of 13 children, prompted his former comrade, Charles W. Brown, of Seat Pleasant, Md., to tell some of the favorite regimental stories.

Brown complied:

"We were in Honolulu, in 1898. The natives were great for chicken fights. We lost every cent we had to them, even the buttons off our uniforms. The battleship New York had an eagle mascot. We stole it, pulled out its feathers and advertised it as the American rooster. Natives came from far and wide. They bet everything they had. The eagle killed all the roosters. We grabbed the money and ran."

Brown continued:

"On the transport Sheridan, in 1899, our mongrel mascot licked a Boston bulldog belonging to Maj. Logan, of the 33rd Volunteers from Texas. The major ordered his corporal and sergeant to throw our dog overboard in mid Pacific. They refused. He arrested them and threw the dog over himself."

The Survivors' Association yesterday voted to submit a petition to Congress, to be sponsored by Congressman Clyde M. Kelly, to enable all Spanish War veterans who saw service from April 17, 1899, to July, 1902, with their wives, to visit Manila in 1933.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 12. Here is what the prohibition director decided about these pressed grape bricks you been reading so much about: "They will turn to wine if handled properly but it's not illegal to buy them. We would have to prove that he was going to handle them properly." Well, that's fine. That gal Mabel and I hope you get the government loan. By the way, a few sample bricks would reach me at above address. (Only mind you, for paving and heaving purposes.) I got a cat on my back fence I want to throw 'em at. Of course if they turn to wine before I hit him I will be disappointed and humiliated beyond words, because the cat don't like wine. Send instructions what to do in case I make up with the cat.

Cotton Picked Early On Hoover Farm

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—The first bale of California cotton produced this year at Hoover Farm, near Shafter, was ready three weeks earlier than last year's first product, it was learned here.

The cotton, long staple, made a 641-pound bale. President Hoover is a part-owner of the ranch. Kern County cotton ranches average a bale and a half to the acre.

Auto Theft Suspect Taken By Policeman in Chase

Walter Rose, 27, of 416 Robertson street, was held in Mt. Washington Police Station today on a suspicious person charge growing out of the alleged theft of an automobile at Federal and Lacock streets. The car belonged to W. E. Cox, of Michigan, police said.

Rose was arrested by Patrolman Robert Scherer in West Liberty avenue, after the car crashed into a pole. Rose, the policeman said, leaped from the car, entered another standing near, and when he was unable to start it, got out and ran several blocks before he was overtaken.

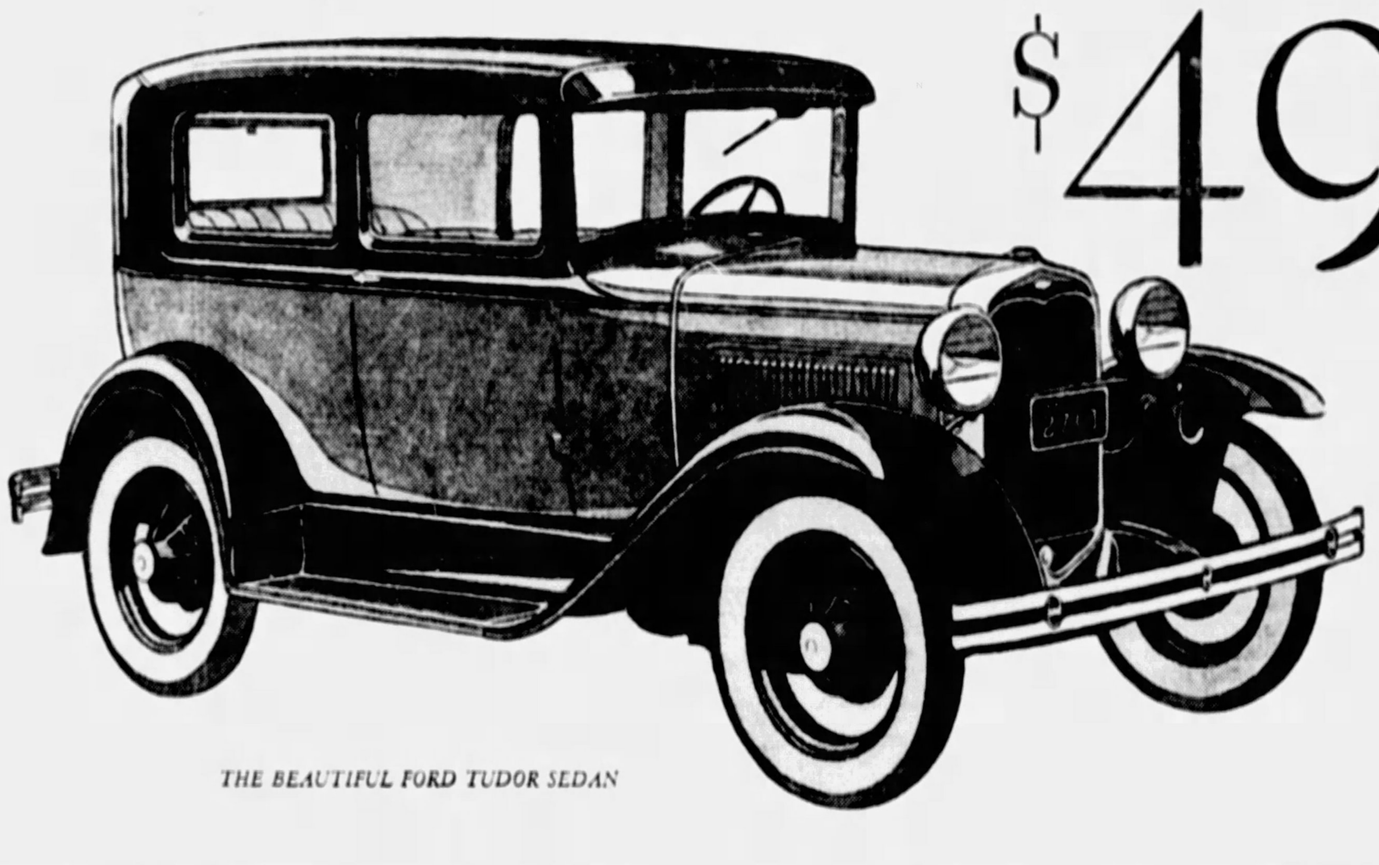
THE GREATEST VALUE EVER BUILT INTO A FORD CAR



THE BEAUTIFUL FORD TUDOR SEDAN

$490

(F. O. B. Detroit, plus freight and delivery. Bumpers and spare tire extra at low cost.)

WHEN you buy a Ford car today, you buy what is unquestionably the greatest value in the history of the Ford Motor Company. Never before has so much beauty, comfort, safety and performance been offered at such a low price.

The low price of the Ford is something to think about because it means an immediate saving of many dollars — always an important consideration. But far more significant than price alone is what you get for that price. When high quality is combined with low price, you may justly take pride in having found a most satisfactory purchase.

That is why so many millions of motorists the world over say . . . "I'm glad I bought a Ford."

For here, at a low price, is a truly great motor car. Good to look at because of its trim smart lines, beautiful colors and attractive upholstery. Safe. Comfortable. Speedy. A joy to drive because it is so alert and easy to handle. And so soundly designed and substantially made that it will give you many thousands of miles of dependable motoring at an exceptionally low cost per mile. Ford methods and Ford resources cut several hundred dollars off the price you would ordinarily pay for a car of this quality.

See the Ford — ride in it — learn something about the value that is built into every part. The more you know about it, the more certain you will be that it is the car for you. It is literally true that when you "get the facts you will get a Ford."

H. L. BROWNING, ELECTRICAL EXPERT, DIES

Pioneer in Incandescent Lighting, Stock Promoter And Realtor Succumbs

Howard L. Browning, 74, pioneer in the electrical field, and who, as a young salesman, sold and installed the first incandescent plant in the United States, died suddenly at his home, 7100 Thomas boulevard, late yesterday. He had been in ill health for some time.

He was born in Camden, N. J., and was educated at the Freehold Academy, Freehold, N. J., and the law school of the University of Pennsylvania. Soon after completing his schooling he became associated with the Edison Manufacturing Company, and while with that organization sold the first incandescent plant installed in this country, the sale being made in New York state. A short time later he was made New York agent of the company, and traveled over most of the country in the interests of the company.

Mr. Browning opened the Edison company's London office and remained in that city six years, going later to Peiping, where he installed the first lighting plant in the palace of the Chinese Emperor.

In the late 80's he left the Edison company and went to Milwaukee, where he formed the Browning Electric Manufacturing Company, but a few years later sold his interests in that company and joined the General Electric Company at Ft. Wayne, Ind.

From 1912 to 1918 he was active as a stock broker and promoter in Chicago, coming to Pittsburgh in 1919 and engaging in stock promotion and real estate. At the time of his death he was associated with the Ochiltree Electric Company.

He was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

While in Milwaukee Mr. Browning married Lenore A. Hilbert, a member of a prominent family of that city, now deceased.

He leaves two sons, Hilbert K., of San Francisco, and Howard I. Browning, Jr., a member of the Sun-Telegraph editorial staff, and a daughter, Miss Lenore H. Browning, of Pittsburgh. Funeral services will be private.

CITY VETS BID FOR '32 MEET

John B. Nichlas, county commander of the American Legion, last night named a committee to go to Easton, Pa., next week to bid for the 1932 state convention of the Legion for Pittsburgh.

Members of the committee are Vice Commander E. Lowry Humes, Charles M. Smith, Robert K. Cochrane, Walter P. Grumm, Charles G. Lane, Edward Crump, Jr., and Dr. Carl E. McKee.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, left $16,233,418 when he died in August, 1927, an inventory of his estate disclosed today. His art collection has been sold for $5,500,000, which is above its appraised value.

The inventory revealed that $2,738,447 had been paid in inheritance and income taxes to the state and federal governments.

Raid After Blaze Yields Beer, Rum

Home brew and moonshine were seized last night following a fire in the home of Joseph Mushinsky, 34, of 1626 Howard street, according to police.

Police raided the house after the blaze had been extinguished. Firemen estimated the damage at $500. Mushinsky was fined $50 or 30 days in jail by Magistrate Ray E. Schneider in North Side Police Court.

Indict Former Union Head as Embezzler

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Dave Evans, former secretary-treasurer of the International Union of Operating Engineers, was indicted by the District of Columbia grand jury on charges of embezzlement of $29,184 from the organization's funds. Attempts will be made to return him here from Chicago for trial.

Leaps From Car

MISS ANNA McCARTHY, 16

GIRL LEAPS, 3 IN AUTO HELD

Anna McCarthy, 16, of 749 Forty-second street, was recovering in Memorial Hospital, Butler, today from injuries received when she leaped from an automobile on the Perry highway, near Harmony, late last night. Three Pittsburgh men, who were companions of Miss McCarthy and two other girls, were being held in the Butler County Jail.

Those under arrest are Leo Broselitsch, 21; Charles Geyer, 28, and Joseph Seek, 21.

Anna and her two chums, Anna Morkone, 17, of 4400 Davison street, and Frances Rodgers, 16, of 300 Forty-sixth street, were invited to ride with the young men, detectives said.

At a cottage near Zelienople the girls fled to the highway and were given a lift by two men on a truck. The three youths were alleged to have pursued the truck and ordered the girls to get into their automobile again.

When the McCarthy girl discovered the youths were starting for the cottage again she leaped from the machine. A motorist and his wife picked up the injured girl and took her to the hospital.

Have You Athlete's Foot?

Look at your feet tonight and especially under and between toes—they may be infected with the vegetable parasite known to science as Tinea Trichophyton—let us hope they are not.

When this parasite first attacks there is an eruption followed by intense itching and burning and if not caught in time the disease usually spreads along the sole and sides of the foot—it may spread to other parts of the body.

CAUTION: The disease is infectious—someone in your own home may have it—find out tonight. Beware of bath mats, either at home or in hotels—use a newspaper—it's safer.

TREATMENT: Apply Moone's Emerald Oil generously, not only under and between the toes but over the bottom and sides of foot. This powerful oil soothes and penetrates—stops the itching at once and checks growth of the germs.

Pharmacists everywhere in America dispense Emerald Oil—an 85 cent bottle that lasts 2 weeks, is guaranteed to drive away every symptom of Athlete's Foot or money back.

DINKEY RITES SET FOR FRIDAY

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon for Alva C. Dinkey, former president of the Carnegie Steel Company and president of the Midvale Company here, who died yesterday at his home in Wynnewood, a suburb.

Mr. Dinkey, who was 65, was one of the few surviving members of the Carnegie Veterans' Association, a group of men who had worked with Andrew Carnegie.

Dinkey leaves his widow, Mrs. Margaret Stewart Dinkey, two sons, Robert E. Dinkey of Pittsburgh and A. C. Dinkey, Jr., of New York, a daughter, Mrs. H. L. Seiple, of Villanova, Pa., and three sisters, Mrs. Charles M. Schwab, Mrs. John M. Mock of Bethlehem, Pa., and Mrs. M. R. Ward, of Wayne, Pa.

OBITUARIES

Dick Funeral

Funeral services were held this afternoon for Mrs. Bessie A. Dick, 56, wife of Albert N. Dick, who died Sunday in the Columbia Hospital. The services were at the family home, 7435 Idlewild street. Mrs. Dick was a lifelong resident of the city.

Besides her husband, she leaves four sons, Raymond, Clarence, Allen and William Dick, and a sister, Mrs. Anne E. Smith.

Johnston Funeral

Funeral services for George McKnight Johnston, 33, of 808 Georgia avenue, Knoxville, who died yesterday, will be held at the home of his parents, 1455 Wightman avenue, Squirrel Hill, tomorrow. He was a member of the Third United Presbyterian Church and served in the aviation corps during the World War. He leaves his widow, Caroline Griffiths Johnston, two sons, Charles and James Johnston, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Johnston, two sisters, Miss Anne and Bertha Johnston, and a brother, Charles Johnston, all of Pittsburgh.

Reynolds Funeral

Funeral services for the Rev. Dr. Grafton Trevor Reynolds, 80, retired Methodist Episcopal minister, were held this afternoon in Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, Center and Liberty avenues. He died yesterday in his home, 5766 Baum boulevard.

Dr. Reynolds was an active minister for 47 years until his retirement in 1922.

Mrs. Mildred Edith Devlin

Funeral services for Mrs. Mildred Edith Devlin, 24, of 11 Gerwig street, Millvale, will be held Friday morning in St. Anne's Church. Mrs. Devlin died yesterday in St. Francis Hospital. She leaves an infant daughter, her husband, Henry J. Devlin, her mother, Mrs. Emma Marie Shaw, sisters, Mrs. Frank Scherr, Mrs. William Whited and Miss Erma Marie.

FIREMEN HONOR RETIRING MATE

Sixty-five firemen and friends of Frank Shay, Arch street, North Side, attached to Engine Company No. 46, attended the dinner in his honor in the engine house on Sandusky street, near Park way, last night.

Shay is retiring from the fire department after 24 years' service. He leaves soon for California, where he will make his home.

Of course you can tell the difference • they're FRESH!

What a world of difference there is between the mild, cool fragrance of Camels in the Humidor Pack and the unkindly hot smoke of an ordinary cigarette!

Your own throat will bear grateful witness to this.

If you have the slightest doubt about it, or about the importance of perfectly conditioned tobaccos in true smoking pleasure, just make this simple test:

First, inhale the smooth cool smoke of a factory-fresh Camel and note how throat-friendly it is; next, inhale the hot smoke of a parched dry cigarette and feel that scratch-and-sting on the membrane.

All the rare flavor and aroma of the fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos of which Camels are blended is kept intact and prime for you by the Humidor Pack.

This scientific germ-safe wrapping—not plain ordinary Cellophane, but moisture-proof Cellophane which costs nearly twice as much—seals in all the natural freshness, seals it so tightly that wet weather cannot make Camels damp, nor drought weather make them dry.

Try Camels, just to see what a happy difference freshness makes in a cigarette.

Do your throat a favor, try them for just one day; then quit them—if you can.

● Don't remove the moisture-proof Cellophane from your package of Camels after you open it. The Humidor Pack not only keeps your cigarettes safe from your wet bathing suit but also keeps the sand and dust out as well

RADIO SCHEDULES, NOTES

The Loud Speaker
By Louis Reid

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Were all the alleged Rumanian gypsies who have plunged into the radio waves collected in a pile they would fill the midway of a county fair. There's ever time for a gypsy song. Can it be it still has a charm for the love-seats?

Radio news dispatches no longer carry the name of Carol, the vagabond lover. When Mme. Lupescu came upon the scene the broadcasters discreetly withdrew.

Several months have passed since Charles G. Dawes' "Melody" poured out of the loudspeakers. Can't Dawes be persuaded to play it himself? There would be something new for an ambassadorial broadcast. Off with the pomp, on with the piano.

* * *

We have given up hope of ever reading in the newspapers of a comedian buried to the strains of the "Funeral March of a Marionette."

It really took a depression to stop Dr. Irving Fisher's "Short Talks on Wealth."

It is those jazz bands which employ a hushed drum beat and a hushed horn blatt that win the largest audiences.

Four out of five persons in Tin Pan Alley will admit, if hard pressed, that George M. Cohan's "Give My Regard to Broadway" is still the best song of Broadway ever written.

* * *

Masters of the microphone have yet to string their apparatus into the courtroom of Reno. Nor have they yet given a thought to airing an auction sale of love letters. Here would be a dazzling ear-catcher for 15 minutes. After 15 minutes it, of course, would be insufferable boredom, even if the letters were written by Casanova himself.

* * *

The standard of radio music was sharply elevated when Leopold Stokowski faced the microphone. He was the first of the baton battalion to refuse to play down to the tastes of the ear-cuppers. Listeners, so far as he was concerned, could take him or leave him. Most of them took him, shouted a huzzah.

Newspapermen now comprise one of the largest units of the radio army. The more gifted newspaperman's gab, the more friendly he is today with his landlord and his butcher.

There is still a humerous throng which resents the M. McNamee's recourse to synthetic excitement in sports broadcasts. Even synthetic excitement is better than no excitement at all.

The test of hopeless armchair senility for us is the day when we prefer the music of a string trio to that of Sousa's Band.

* * *

Broadway showmen are not as alert today as of old. Were present conditions exisiting five years ago all revue producers would be dispatching agents to the doorstep of Morton Downey.

We Now Present
By Darrell V. Martin, Radio Editor

Night after night we identify radio programs by their signature songs . . . it's the association of an idea that tells us to expect Amos 'n' Andy when we hear the "Perfect Song," even if we have no clock to indicate the hour . . . but how many of us know the names of these songs? . . . The question suggests itself as a noble experiment for Frederick G. Rodgers and he presents a group of seven better known signature songs on KDKA at 7:15 tonight . . . take a slip of paper and write down the names of programs that are associated with these signature songs, then listen for Fred and see how near you are right: "Somewhere in the World" "Golden Slippers," "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," "I Know a Lovely Garden," "Shine on Harvest Moon," and "Slumber On" . . . ever know that Dick Powell has a signature song all his own? . . . all the time he is dressing for the stage he hums that favorite, "Song of Songs," which Gladys Rice sings for us on WCAE at 8:30 tonight . . . at 8:30 on KDKA Eugene Ormandy presents a violin solo of the lovely Lullaby from "Jocelyn" . . . We call special attention to the Oscar Strauss lineup on WCAE at 9:30 with Olive Palmer's solo of "My Hero" and by way of extra attraction, the Revelers Quartet chanting "Bells of St. Mary" . . . Fannie Brice appeals for "My Man" on WJAS at 10 . . . Tris Speaker winds up the radio evening with a home run talk on WCAE at 10:30.

Darrell V. Martin

* * *

We have no desire to start a revolution but it occurs to us that Col. Stoopnagle and Budd have stolen Amos 'n' Andy's thunder . . . and in justice to Miller and Lyle, who are being criticized for imitating Amos 'n' Andy, let it be said they invented this form of Negro comedy many years ago.

* * *

One of our better known tenors came near being sued for divorce the other night when his wife found a feminine note scribbled in his pocket. "Why Must I Be With You Always?" . . . it caused a rumpus until the tenor proved that it was just a song memorandum from his vocal teacher.

LOOK OUT!

If This Deception is Attempted Against You

THIS warning is printed to put the public on guard against a deception which may be practised against those who seek genuine Bayer Aspirin for pain, headaches or colds.

We take this means of warning you, so you may be able to protect yourself and your family against the results of such deception.

BEWARE!

Other preparations, we are informed, have been offered at times to those who ask for Bayer Aspirin; and even represented in some cases as being "the same as Bayer Aspirin."

Watch Out! Remember that years ago doctors warned the public against "headache remedies," some of which are heart depressants and unsafe for many people to take.

Then remember how Genuine Bayer Aspirin came. And was acclaimed the world over by leading men of science as SAFE relief for pain, and was prescribed without hesitation by eminent physicians. For genuine Bayer Aspirin does not harm the heart.

What folly, then, in the light of these things, to dose yourself with drugs of which you know nothing. Don't gamble—KNOW.

The genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets are made by a special process, under careful supervision of scientists, in the Bayer Laboratories, with over 25 years of highly specialized experience.

So when you want SAFE relief for pain, cold or headache, ask for BAYER ASPIRIN. You have a perfect right to ask for what you want. And an equal right to get what you ask for.

Look for the name BAYER on the package. And the word Genuine in red. Insist on Genuine Bayer Aspirin and refuse substitutes.

The Cards' System.

A STAR IN BOTH TENNIS AND GOLF

NOTE—The sports editor is pinchhitting for James J. Corbett, of this column, who is on vacation for two weeks.

VINCE BARTON . . . HE FILLS HACK WILSON'S SHOES

EVERY SO OFTEN a natural slugger comes along in baseball to flash his stuff and thrill the fans. Such a find is young Vince Barton, the outfielder of the Chicago Cubs, recalled from the Pacific Coast League to fill the shoes of Hack Wilson, last year's home run king, who goes into the records as the season's outstanding "bust" in view of his pitiful showing with the willow.

Barton is a youngster who always could hit. In his first season in professional baseball, with the Baltimore Orioles, in 1929, he batted almost .350 and banged out 32 home runs and 45 other extra-base hits. He obviously is no flash in the pan from a hitting standpoint and may go on to become one of the big stars of the game.

PAUL BLACK, ADJUTANT of the St. Louis Cardinals' chain stores baseball league, declared that the branch Paul Black wants to be in is the [illegible] of baseball that he has become associated with, the International League, which he owns in Newark, N. J. He had his Beaty managed by Al Mamaux, former Pirate star, when it takes the initial step headed for the pennant when the Cards rushed a flock of rookies to the Rochester club, with the result that the group has become surprisingly tough.

THE HAMBLETONIAN STAKE for 3-year-old trotters, to be decided at Goshen, N. Y., late in the fall, is the blue ribbon event of the harness racing world. It carries a huge purse and to win it is the pet ambition of virtually every owner.

The stake this year, the second in succession to be raced at Goshen, will be worth approximately $55,000 and it is only the sixth staging of the event. Guy McKinney was the winner of the first Hambletonian at Syracuse in 1926. Iola's Worthy won the next year at Lexington. Spencer took the honors at Syracuse in 1928, and Walter Dear won at Lexington in 1929, while Hanover's Bertha won the renewal at Goshen last year.

OUTSTANDING AMONG THE contenders is Tompkins Park Calumet Butler, owned by W. H. Dodge of Washington, Pa. Calumet Butler is the son of Peter Volo and Sumatra and recently trotted a mile in 2:04, a world record for the distance, and stepped the final quarter in 28[illegible].

JOHNNY JADICK, at Philadelphia, who defeated Sammy Dorfman, of New York, at the Meyers Bowl last night, although he didn't get the decision, is of Ukrainian extraction. His is an interesting history. He grew up in the Kensington mill district of the Quaker City and at the tender age of 13 years began haunting the boxing gymnasiums and the Cambria Club, where his present manager, Johnny Burns, was the promoter. The youngster watched the form of the leading mittmen, carried water buckets for them and imitated them and proved to be one of those born ring geniuses who seem to do everything right from the start. He had class as he shaped up and when he began boxing he developed a dangerous right hand punch. Since then he has met many stars and progressed far and has been derided by a number of the tapnotchers. He proved his worth in his first showing here, against Tony Herrera, flooring Tony with a straight right at the end of the first round and boxing nicely to the finish. It was Herrera's first defeat in all of his many bouts around here.

BUENA A VETERAN in the sport whose cauliflower ear is the envy of rookies everywhere in the United States, speaks highly of Jadick's boxing intelligence. Johnny was in a semi-retired mood at the time this sports writer interested him enough to talk with a trip he made to Europe and, for Borrell, fagged Philadelphia middleweight some years ago. Borrell knocked out an Englishman named Bandsman. Bandsman, after the bout, the officials went into a huddle and came out declaring the bout no contest and an attempt was made to share Borrell's purse.

This plan failed when a London newspaper took up the cudgels for Borrell and announced it would force the promoter to refund all of the money to the spectators if the bout remained in the records as "no contest," stating that the public had paid to see a contest and if there was no contest it had been bilked. Rather clever and logical reasoning.

WHAT OH WHAT has become of the so-called iron ball when we have a pitchers' game and two of the games in the major leagues on ten successive days? And speaking of pitching feats had you noticed that the same day the seven top hitters were turned in Pitcher Starr of the Rochester club of the International League dropped a tough 2-1 game to Jersey City, gave only an infield hit, seven hits and then went in to pitch the entire game of a doubleheader, a seven inning affair, and won 6-1, giving seven hits.

MISS MARY K. BROWNE, who started out as a tennis star and then took to playing golf, has added the Cleveland city golf title to her Ohio State crown. Miss Browne won the national tennis title in the days of Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory and other stars and was a playing partner of Suzanne Lenglen when the

Coach to Select Polo Lineup Today

Carl Guenther, new coach of the Pittsburgh Polo Club, probably will select his lineup for the game between the local club and the Iroquois Hunt and Polo Club of Lexington, Ky., at the Beaufield Saturday, at a practice today. Saturday's game is the first intercity meet ever to be played here.

The Iroquois team arrives Saturday morning and its horses Friday. Members of the several Pittsburgh Polo Club fields will vie with each other to be selected on the quartet to play the visitors.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY. BARNEY OLDFIELD—Although Barney Oldfield, most famous of auto speedway aces, always is photographed with a cigar in his mouth, he smokes a pipe. During speedway trial runs and races, a driver is subject to terrific jolting because of the rigidity of the racing cars, and Oldfield used a cigar as a "shock absorber," biting it firmly as he drove to prevent injury to his teeth. SHELL ROCK MOUNTAIN RESTS ON ICE—Shell Rock Mountain, on the Oregon side of the Columbia River, near Collins, Wash., has an elevation of about 2,000 feet and has the greatest thickness of basalt rock seen in the Columbia River gorge. Great trouble was experienced by the early railroad builders around Shell Rock because of the ever-shifting topography of the land, and geologic investigation disclosed that the entire mountain rested on a huge iceberg. Although the exact cause of this phenomenon is unknown, some chroniclers advance the theory that in prehistoric times the river froze solid, causing it to overflow into the crevices around the mountain.

LEN KOENECKE COSTS CLUB $75,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The New York Giants, among the clubs doing a lot of chasing in this year's Major League baseball without getting anywhere in particular, struck a blow for 1932 yesterday by announcing a $75,000 deal for Leonard Koenecke, outfielding outfielder of the Bamingham, Ala., American Association team.

The extraordinary feature of the deal for the baseball times was the statement of James J. Dailey, secretary of the Giants, that the Birmingham club, which is presided over by A. B. Patterson, had requested permission to sell Koenecke and received it. The delivery of players equivalent to the value placed on the outfielder's services.

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK, Md., Aug. 12.—Pittsburgh performers still loom favorite as the twelfth annual Western Maryland tennis championships, scheduled to be the battleplay of players in the courts of the Western Maryland Country Club here this morning. The P. A. A. set Dr. Dave O'Loughlin, Ben Gilchrist, Ed. and Jack Davis, Crawford Russell, Jones Harris, assisted with Jimmie Allison, Eddie Ed Alcorn and John Brown, Mount Lebanon luminaries, likewise breezed onward though not without stiff tussles.

Dave O'Loughlin defeated A. G. Montgomery, of Johnstown, 6-1, 6-2, and for Bob Brown, Davis-Elkins coach, 6-1, 6-0. Brother Billy after landing a default from Bob Bidwell, of Washington, ploughed past Charles Huston, Central Pennsylvania lad 6-4, 6-2 and Ollie Jones, of Bridgeville 6-2, 6-1.

Dr. John Reed of the O'Loughlin tribe, is recuperating from a severely infected finger and defaulted to Bart Welsh, Duke University star.

PITT '32 CARD ALMOST FULL

BY JESS CARVER

All Doc Harrison Pitt's rotund director of athletics needs to do now is to get a ball game for the Pitt football team for September 24, 1932 and his grid card for next year will be complete.

Director Doc received word yesterday from the officials at North Carolina State College that they'd be tickled to death to send their Tar Heels here for a game and a licking on October 22. With that game set only the opener remains to be accounted for. The card for '32 follows:

FARLEY TRAILS HOBLITZEL

MONTREAL, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Fred Hoblitzel of Toronto had a one-hole lead over his fellow townsman, young Phil Farley, at the end of the first 18 holes of their second round match play today in the Canadian amateur golf championship.

The all-Toronto match brought out the best golf of the tournament so far. Hoblitzel had a medal score of 70 and Farley a 72.

Striepeke Beaten In Net Tournament

E. F. Striepeke, favorite to win the Bank of Pittsburgh National Association tennis championship, suffered an unexpected defeat last evening when he bowed to Harry Albrecht, 6-0, 6-0.

Albrecht was steady from start to finish and was the master of his opponent throughout the match. The tournament is conducted annually for employes.

Four Races Carded At Schenley Oval

The tenth regular weekly meeting of the Schenley Matinee Club is being held this afternoon at Schenley Oval, with a program of four events.

Dusty Cook Sent To Newark by Yanks

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Allen (Dusty) Cooke, fleet outfielder of the New York Yankees, yesterday was released on option to the Newark club of the International League.

Cooke suffered a broken collarbone early this season and was out of the lineup for weeks. He needs regular work now to get in shape again and Yankee officials sent him to Newark to get it.

Schaaf Stops Snyder In Fifth Round

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Ernie Schaaf's lightning right fist gave him a five-round technical knockout victory over Angus Snyder, rugged Dodge City (Kan.) battler, last night in the Boston Garden's feature contest, scheduled for 10 rounds. Schaaf weighed 208 and the Kansan scaled an even 200. The referee halted the bout.

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—I guess the A's are glad to hit the road after their last session at Shibe Park. Everybody in Philadelphia got so tired of seeing the A's win all the time, you couldn't even get kids to peek through knotholes in the fence at them. In fact the National League franchise was worth more than Connie Mack's. Because Philadelphia fans got they would pay big monies to a Philadelphia team that co lose once in awhile. When club like the A's plays to h crowds of under 5,000 can blame Connie for threatening break it up and start all again. In fact, he would have a team with just Bob Gr and eight clothing dummies.

Some of the sandlot leaders will spend some anxious moments as this evening's league tussles are run off and the chances are that there may be some shifts in the standings after the results are tabulated.

At Dormont the City League leadership will be at stake when the Books and Dormont clash. Dormont, as first half champion is playing out its string in order to prevent a playoff at the season's end, but with Books hanging on tenaciously anything is liable to happen. The Book strategy board probably will ponder a long time before the staffing pitcher is named, because so much hinges on the outcome of the game.

In the West Penn League Reliance will travel to Malone Field to hook up with the Marty Griffin club. Manager Gerry Americus wants to beat Reliance, and it seems a certainty that Zigolotti will get the mound assignment.

The West Penn race is getting tough, and with no weak club in its roster, ace hurlers must be used all of the time.

The Coalers will travel to Camp Horne this evening to meet the Burchfield aggregation. The Campers are feeling pretty cocky regarding that second half title, and expect to stop the Munson outfit.

The East End Cardinals, pacemakers in the Steel City loop, will entertain the Speer club this evening to try and keep their record in the second half clear.

Sammy Dorfman, Jewish lightweight of New York, was rooted in the winner of the judges' decision in his 10-round windup battle with Johnny Jadick of Philadelphia at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, last night. Referee Al Grayber properly voted for Jadick, but his decision did not count when the judges, Frank Hogan and Lou Mehringer, agreed on Dorfman.

Throughout the bout, a group of Dorfman shouters kept up a din and cry for him, acclaiming it every move despite the fact that he had both eyes cut and all but closed and was bleeding from a cut on the forehead near the finish. He finished battered and weary and looking anything but the part of a victorious gladiator.

JADICK HAS EDGE

He also won only two rounds of the fight, the fourth and fifth, all of the others going to Jadick by fair or small margins. Jadick's only mark was a slight cut on the left eye, suffered in the fourth round, when their heads bumped and Dorfman received the forehead injury.

Dorfman fought hard and earnestly and plugged to which but he was forced to concede a lot of height and reach and his opponent also was much the cleaner boxer. Sammy's left eye was cut as early as the second round and the right followed in the sixth. Jadick coasted and relaxed in spots but was master of the battle any time he chose to cut loose. His straight left to the head kept Dorfman off balance considerably of the time and he was a sharp shooter with his right. He merited the decision as much as he did the one he recently received over Tony Herrera in the same ring. There were no knockdowns but Jadick fell down off balance late in the first round.

Jadick scaled 134 pounds and Dorfman 132½, at 3 p. m. on Monday, the show having been held over because of threatening weather. The clouds threatened some more last night and, as a result, the crowd was far below expectations.

ROSE BEATS RUDY

Billy Rose of Cincinnati, 144½, outboxed Young Rudy of Charleroi, 146, in the eight-round semi-final. Carl Montebano of Braddock, 160½, won on a much-booed knockout over Eddie Leonisch of Columbus, 158, after 2 minutes, 37 seconds of the third round when he either should have won on a foul for being struck low in the second round and badly hurt or have been rounded out in his corner for being unable to come up for the third round when the bell rang.

Leibisch got off to a good start when he ripped Montebano with a right to the chin almost immediately after the opening bell and dropped him heavily for a count of three. He carried the first round and held his own in the second and was struck hard with

CIRCUIT RACES POSTPONED ONE DAY

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—The Grand Circuit harness racing program, featured by the $60,000 Hambletonian Stake for the 3-year-old trotting championship, was postponed today until tomorrow because of the muddy condition of the track.

It was the second straight day the weather had prevented racing at Good Time Park.

W. H. Cane, sponsor of the Grand Circuit meeting here, tomorrow will send the favorite to the post in Nedda Guy, which has a mark of 2.03¾. The filly, which will be driven by the veteran reinsman, Harry Stokes, was beaten at Hartford last week, but her conqueror, Protector, was not named for the rich stake.

On the pole will be Calumet Belinka, 2.05, owned by J. O. McAllister, of Lexington, Ky., and driven by William Hodson. John M. Berry's Keno, of Rome, Ga., which trotted a mile in 2.04 at Hartford, will have second position, with Fred Egan in the driver's seat.

Nedda Guy's chief opposition is expected by some to come from either Keno or Calumet Bush, the entry of William H. Davis, of Washington, Pa.

Marty Sets New South African Mark

QUEENSTOWN, South Africa, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Walter Marty, of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, today leaped 6 feet, 6¼ inches to win in the running high jump in an athletic meet between a touring United States team and a Border squad. It was a new South African record. Barney Berlinger, former University of Pennsylvania all-round athlete, was second.

Eddie Genung, of the Washington A. C., Seattle, won the half-mile run in 1 minute, 57 seconds, with Webster, of the Border team, second.

HUGHES GAINS FINAL

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 12.—James Hughes, of Jeannette, won the way to the finals of the Westmoreland county golf championship tournament, all matches except the semi-finals, which will be played tomorrow, by defeating Dr. Ralph Hagan, 3 and 2, this afternoon at Greensburg Country Club.

RAILS IMPART HEAVY TONE TO MARKET

Stock List Torpid With Fluctuations Narrow; Carrier Issues Drop

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP).—A soggy tendency again cropped out in the rail shares and imparted a somewhat heavy undertone to a torpid stock market today.

Bulls appeared stunned by the unexpectedly violent success of their drive against bear sentiment and stood aside permitting the list to lapse back into extreme sluggishness. Effects of the weak showing by railroads and carriers in June traffic and earnings figures, which included figures expressing concern over the fact that no abrupt resumption in action appeared forthcoming, were perhaps partly responsible for the rail issues' poor showing, although other factors, particularly the lack of trade interest and the frequent cancellation of orders, also were blamed.

Some bulls had insisted traders expressed encouragement over the fact that no abrupt resumption in action appeared forthcoming, were perhaps partly responsible for the rail issues' poor showing, although other factors, particularly the lack of trade interest and the frequent cancellation of orders, also were blamed.

In the curbs Cities Service, Commercial Solvents, Electric Bond & Share, Kansas City Power & Light, Public Service of New Jersey and Standard Oil of New Jersey were featured.

The weekly financial chronicle's report covering the week ended August 1 was discouraging. Of the gain of 15,541 cars over the previous week, it was notable that the improvement was about evenly divided between coal and miscellaneous freight. The grain movement showed a further moderate slackening. The movement of merchandise in less than carload lots, regarded as one of the most reliable barometers, remained stabilized, showed the heretofore gain of 864 cars and will be watched closely during the coming week for signs of preparation for autumn trade.

The tenor of the weekly steel trade review was in the main more cheerful. Iron Age places tax-free output at 40 per cent of capacity, 36 per cent while Steel estimated that it has expanded from 30 to 32 per cent. It is argued that the railroads were finding it necessary to buy new equipment and that the outlook for structural steel was a little more promising. Iron Age furthermore saw indications that the automobile makers had underestimated retail demand.

Gasoline statistics show stocks have now been reduced 35,881,000 barrels or roughly 7,000,000 less than a year ago.

The weekly copper statistics, showing a further gain in refined and blister stocks on hand in North and South America of nearly 20,000 tons was in line with expectations.

JULY COPPER OUTPUT OFF

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Refined copper stocks in North and South America as of August 1 totaled 440,417 short tons against 417,474 in June and 322,039 in July 1930 according to the American Bureau of Metal Statistics.

Production in July was 96,404 tons compared to 98,753 in June and 107,559 in July 1930. Shipments were 69,465 tons in July against 83,468 in June and 117,902 in July 1930.

Total stocks of refined and blister copper as of August 1 were 624,178 tons against 600,827 on July 1 and 539,245 on June 1.

Production of primary copper by United States mines in July was 38,606 tons against 44,473 in June and 54,249 in July 1930.

"I believe that I understand the method of operation pursued by the United States Federal Reserve System with relation to member banks. It is a fact that a member bank by virtue of its having paid in its share in the treasury of the Federal Reserve may count on such assistance as the rediscounting of commercial loans and the right to borrow money when necessary, providing their assets are intact and the management is found to be sound. My plan is to place the present Chamber of Commerce of the United States on the same basis as the Federal Reserve System. The U. S. Chamber would choose as its members all large and small manufacturing plants all over the United States who would contribute on a pro-rata basis depending upon the nature of their product, their output and their capital investment. This fee would entitle them to similar benefits and would give them the same return in dividends that the Federal Reserve offer their member banks."

Wall Street Prepared For More Dividend Reductions

Wall Street is prepared for more dividend reductions. This is evident from the comment heard in financial quarters.

The point is made that the rather drastic cut by the United States Steel directors on the common dividend several weeks ago will have considerable influence when the managements of other companies are confronted with the subject in the coming weeks. Some of the companies which maintained their rates of distribution with the hope of fall improvement in business are likely to make reductions now as the prospects are none too bright.

An explanation for the fact that Columbia Gas has held to the steady pace in the past was given in statements published when it was said that the company had purchased more than $2,170,000 of its stock. Naturally the future of the Columbia Gas and also of the Consolidated Gas system will be watched closely because of the stock because of the past earnings.

Judging from the action of Western Union and the comment heard throughout the financial district, the popular anticipation is that there will be a reduction in the current dividend rate of $8 a share on the stock. The company would be among the first to show a recovery with improvement in business, but the belief is growing that betterment in industrial conditions will be longer delayed than was predicted earlier in the year by many economists.

The weekly report on crude oil production appearing was scrutinized with more than the usual interest for an insight into the effect on output of the complete shutdown in Oklahoma, latest effort of Governor Murray. Perhaps the high rate of output for that state, 420,835 barrels daily for the week ended August 8, or only about 24,000 barrels less than in the week previous occasioned a little surprise. It was recalled, however, that the governor had given producers a few days grace and judging by the production figures those few days were used by producers to get out everything possible before the bell rung. Output for the country as a whole averaged 61,000 barrels a day heavier than in the previous week, with a rise of 51,000 barrels in the daily rate of East Texas fields contributing the bulk of the expansion.

Johns Manville Corporation July business showed less than usual seasonal decline from June. While the volume still is distinctly subnormal, the trend is more encouraging. The cut in operating expenses has helped the profit margin, which in the second quarter was 8.2c per dollar of sales against 3.2c in the first quarter. For the first time since the acute depression set in, the ratio of profits before taxes to sales was equal in the second quarter to that of the same period of the year before and this on a sales aggregate 38 per cent lower.

Baldwin Bookings Higher for July

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12 ... The consolidated report of the Baldwin Locomotive Works and affiliated companies for the month of July shows total business booked amounted to $1,946,000 as compared with $1,909,000 in July, 1930. This marked the third month this year that bookings have exceeded those for the corresponding month of 1930.

Unfilled orders on July 31 amounted to $9,962,000 against $8,871,000 on January 1, 1931.

6,805 Banks Report Drop in Resources

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 ... Total resources of the 6,805 reporting national banks in the United States, Alaska and Hawaii on June 30 aggregated $27,642,698,000, a decrease of $483,769,000 since March 25 when there were 6,935 reporting banks and a decrease of $1,473,841,000 since the amount reported by 7,252 banks on June 30, 1930, the Comptroller of Currency reports.

Less Cottonseed Crushed in Year

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 ... Cottonseed crushed in the year ending July 31 was reported by the census bureau today to have totaled 4,694,363 tons compared with 5,015,514 tons the previous year and cottonseed on hand at mills July 31 was 26,003 tons compared with 45,434 tons a year ago.

STEEL OUTPUT UNCHANGED

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 ... The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow will say:

The iron and steel industry presents a confused picture because of mixed tendencies in production and irregularities in the flow of specifications.

Losses and gains however virtually counterbalance and total ingot steel requirements remain substantially unchanged. Slight increases in steel ingot output were made at Pittsburgh and Youngstown and declines were reported in the Wheeling district and at Cleveland, but the average for the country at large is estimated at 40 per cent, the same rate as a week ago.

Whether or not steel production has actually reached its lowest point as now seems to be indicated, it is clear that several important market factors point to an upturn in the near future.

The Pittsburgh district mill has resumed operations at a 25 per cent rate after a fortnight's suspension and is unlikely to be forced to shut down again this year, since fall buying will soon get under way. The Louisville and Nashville is expected to take action on its inquiry for 50,000 tons within the next fortnight, and the Southern Pacific has come into the market for 60,000 tons. More than 160,000 tons of structural steel will be required for five large projects which will soon be placed. Price developments are favorable so far as finished steel is concerned.

Youngstown Firms Expect Increase

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 12 ... Offices of district steel companies are being advised by salesmen in the field that an upturn in requirements of customers is likely to develop within the next 30 days. Stocks of steel in hands of jobbers and manufacturing consumers are at minimum and little stocking is being done by the mills.

JUST PLAYING AROUND -:- By Lewis Allen Browne

CHAPTER XLI

Although I felt sick and cold with shock over what Thad Parsons was saying I managed to keep control of myself and to neither go into a righteous rage nor break down and sob.

"Just what do you mean, Thad Parsons, when you say you cannot marry me now?"

I managed to speak quietly.

"Why, sweetness, just what I said—after all that happened."

"Never mind the 'sweetness' part, Thad. Just explain. After all 'what' has happened?"

"Come now, sweet—Oh I say don't be like that. Don't try to be so ritzy, hoho. You know as well as I do."

"I don't know. But I know you talk as though you thought I was—I had been—still or—or wild."

"At least you were discreet and careful, until the Malvern murder stirred things up so disagreeably."

"It's like that is it, Thad?"

"Isn't it, Katie?"

"You think that because I had been friendly with Forrest Malvern it naturally followed that I had been bad—isn't that it?"

"You put it," Katie—it naturally followed.

"And believing that, you spring the love test wheeze on me."

"You wouldn't have a worry in the world, Katie, you know that. I've always been crazy about you. I'd always take care of you."

"You weren't so crazy about me but what you married a society girl who was a rotter—"

"I explained what a sap I had been over that situation."

"You don't believe that I was merely friendly with Malvern and nothing more."

Thad laughed softly and that was like a stab through to me. I was speechless for a few moments.

"Well, nevermind why waste words. What's just it past and always forgotten. What do you say?"

"I say, Good night." I said it so low that I had to repeat it when he said, "What?" I said it plenty loud enough the next time and started to get out of the car.

FEELS ASHAMED

He put his hand out to help me and I dodged and avoided it. If he had touched me I would have screamed or perhaps struck him. I was grateful that Viola wasn't in when I got up to our little apartment.

Thad had not attempted to detain me or even to reply. I think my attitude gave him a big jolt. I shall always believe that it made him wonder if he hadn't been as dumb as he was unspeakable in his suspicions.

I lost no time getting into bed. I was beyond crying then. I thought of what sister Cora had said. I thought of millions of things. It seemed. Had Thad Parsons any right to harbor such suspicions about me? I tried to convince myself that he had not. But there always came up the old stories and sayings such as one cannot touch pitch without being sullied and that dog Towser was a good dog but got a bad name by going with bad dogs.

I suppose those who knew Forrest Malvern best believed that no good girl could be his friend, or that no girl could long be his friend and be a good girl.

I could feel my eyes smart with the tears I could not shed and my cheeks burn not with shame for anything I had done but with shame that Thad should think such evil of me.

Perhaps he would come to me soon and apologize and offer to marry me. That would be impossible now, for I would forever feel that despite his love there would always be in the back of his mind a suspicion of me.

VIOLA MARRIED

I heard Viola's voice at the door. I heard her gay little laugh and a man's voice. I couldn't make out from the voice who he was but I was surprised, for she never let Dessy or the others come up beyond the street entrance with her at such an hour.

More talk and low voices and giggling. Finally she came in.

I was in no mood to talk and pretended to be asleep. Now ordinarily Viola would never awaken me, nor would I disturb her, but this time she plumped herself down on the bed beside me.

"Wake up, old pal," she said, putting her hand on my cheek. "Wake up and hold everything for a shriek."

As if I hadn't had enough shriek to last me a lifetime! But I opened my eyes and sat up. Viola leaned over and kissed me. She was so excited that she didn't notice that I was feverish.

"Look," she cried, and she held up her left hand.

I was staring at a decidedly pretty solitaire.

"You've been throwing bricks through a jewelry shop window," I muttered, more to cover up my own desolation than anything else.

She shook her head and twisted her diamond-adorned finger to get the light on the stone.

"The English chappie — or Denny," I asked.

"Oh heaven help us—as if I'd look at either of 'em!" she cried. "It's Jack."

I sat up straighter and stared at her.

"The man from Cleveland?"

"Uh huh—and we're going to be married tomorrow."

"Married — tomorrow? Why the delay?"

"License bureau was closed when he proposed. Oh, Katie, I fell for Jack the minute I saw him. He's grand. Not so awful rich, but he has a store and good prospects. I'd married him if he was only the office boy—isn't it wonderful!"

So I kissed her and did my best to make her think that I was awfully happy over it. When I flopped back on my pillow and pretended to sleep, real tears came at last because I was thinking of the difference between Viola's proposal and the sort of a proposal Thad Parsons had made me that night.

Viola Carson and Jack Barnes were married the next day at the Little Church Around the Corner. I was with her.

NUMEROUS PARTIES

I had luncheon with them. I helped pack her belongings and I saw them to the train. They were going upstate first so that Viola could show her people her husband.

It was a good thing for me it kept my mind from Thad Parsons and all that he had said and hinted and offered me the night before.

I lost the best roommate and pal a working girl ever had. I decided to go it alone for a while because I didn't know any other girl I cared to have with me. Molly hinted about coming in with me but there were reasons why I didn't want her.

Not once did the old Might as well be killed for a sheep as a lamb saying occur to me but I was determined to forget those things that hurt me and to go on and enjoy myself. I could have Chubb for an escort by crooking my finger and he was rich and gay. Then there was Fred Gray and Sammy Wentworth and half a dozen other nice boys who all liked to go out with me.

In a few months the season wouldn't be so lively. I decided to make the best of it and at least four nights a week I was out until 2 and Saturdays I started out early on some party or other to blow back to my lonely apartment around sunrise.

It was the life, I thought. I believed it. I was still getting the good old thrill out of dancing, the crowd, the eats and the company of little groups of friends.

Twice Mrs. Miers told me that I should take a tonic that I was getting too thin. I always laughed at her.

"A couple nights' sleep will fix that," I would say.

FAST PACE TELLS

Several times I saw Thad Parsons. He always greeted me pleasantly and I always returned the greeting, but I did not have the opportunity to talk with him and I don't know what I could have said if we happened to get into conversation.

The third time I saw him he was with Susie Lawlor.

Thad waved and smiled at me and I smiled back. I saw him whisper to her and she had to look my way. She actually nodded her head at me. I smiled and waved my hand carelessly. I had been unspeakably rude once and would never be like that again.

Thad came over to my table later, when my friend Ferd was away for a moment and the other two with us were on the floor. He probably awaited this chance.

"Well, sweetness," he said. "Haven't you changed your mind? What do you think?"

"I think you are clever, Thad," I said, "to discover that the sort of women you crave are more plentiful in your own circle of society."

Thad's face turned brick red. He bowed stiffly from the waist and marched away. I exerted myself to be unusually gay all the rest of the evening, solely for his benefit.

More weeks of parties. And then one night I became just too tired to go on and begged to be taken home. Chubb Osmund was my escort that night.

I was feeling worse, weak and dizzy. I had a sort of recollection of Chubb helping me.

In tomorrow's concluding chapter—Kitty makes a discovery.

DAILY SHORT STORY

The Orphan

(All names of characters in this story are fictitious.)

Author Falls in Love With Orphanage Teacher

"The land runs down to that wall and the grove, Mr. Tomlinson."

Mr. Jerome Tomlinson followed the directions of the agent's fat forefinger.

The land swept down across a lawn that needed trimming. Several giant oaks dotted the sweep of land. Mr. Tomlinson noticed them. He would have a great deal of pleasure building seats under those oaks—if he bought the place.

There was just a hint of red brick through the trees in the adjoining grove, which was some three hundred yards away from the dividing line.

"Who lives down there, Mr. Swazey?" Tomlinson asked.

"That—Oh down in the brick place — that is the orphan asylum."

Mr. Tomlinson frowned.

"Orphan asylum?"

"Very nice place—very quiet. The young people never leave the grounds and you won't hear them at play, they're playing now, but you can't hear them," Mr. Swazey explained, hastily.

"I see, well, so long as they are that distance from me—in the event that I buy—I doubt if it would be objectionable. To tell the truth, I do not dislike children, but, unfortunately, they annoy me if they are in—uh—juxtaposition."

"What's that?" Mr. Swazey asked.

Mr. Tomlinson coughed and disguised a smile.

"If they are too near."

Mr. Jerome Tomlinson, writer of text books for very advanced students, decided to purchase the Collins estate. It had once been the show-place of Lawrenceburg, but for some years had been unoccupied, while many heirs were anxiously awaiting its sale.

INSPECTS WORK

Mr. Tomlinson wrote text books because he enjoyed the work. There had been a time when he wrote them as a means of living, but some dozen successful books brought in ever-increasing royalties. Some distant relatives couldn't take their money with them and so, altogether, Mr. Tomlinson need not do any more writing for the next hundred years or so, so far as there was any need to augment his income.

A gardener put up hothouses and landscaped the grounds. Fish were brought to restock the private pond and Mr. Tomlinson indulged himself in what had been a dream of bliss for years—a most expensive tool cabinet fully fitted with the best grade carpenter tools.

He drove out from the city, some seventy miles distant, to see how the work was progressing. He took notice of the orphanage and was satisfied that the youngsters would not molest or annoy him, because it was so far from his property. He saw the children out in the playgrounds and noted that they did not wear drab little uniforms, but were dressed as almost any group of children might be, which pleased him. He had often thought that the uniforms sort of stamped the unfortunates as dependents of charity and caused them to lose a certain amount of individuality.

OFFER REFUSED

And then Mr. Tomlinson ceased to think about the orphans or the orphanage, for his great cabinet of carpenter's tools had arrived together with quantities of lumber—all awaiting his craftsmanship.

Mr. and Mrs. Schultz, who had worked for him a dozen years, were brought out to his new home and he settled down to what he anticipated to be a life of comfort and pleasure.

For two weeks he worked in his new study, going over the proofs of his latest text book. Then he bundled these back to his publishers, stopped at a store in Lawrenceburg and invested in two suits of overalls and jumpers.

"Whatever is he going to do?" Mrs. Schultz asked her husband when she saw Tomlinson overseeing the installment of a great workbench in what had once been a long carriage shed.

"He'll pound his thumbs and cut his fingers playing at carpentering," Mr. Schultz declared.

Mr. Schultz offered to help him, but Tomlinson refused. This was to be entirely his handicraft. He took his two-by-fours and nail box and some other tools down and started at work. At noon he ate a hasty luncheon and hurried down to the oak again.

To his surprise a girl was sitting under the oak.

"Hello," she said.

"How do you do," Mr. Tomlinson answered, politely, "are you one of the girls from the—down there?"

He indicated, because he didn't like to say "Orphanage."

"Oh, yes," she said.

"Do they let your little girls leave the grounds?"

The girl laughed a little.

"I'm such a big girl that I can go out of bounds if I wish."

Tomlinson eyed her. She was such a little thing, it seemed to him, with her yellow hair bobbed and curly and her great blue eyes seeming ready to twinkle with merriment. He wondered what a poor orphan girl had in life to be so cheerful about. He started working.

"Do you work for the man up there?"

"Why, yes," he admitted.

"I guess he's pretty awful to work for, isn't he?"

"Then why did you come over? Are you more privileged than any of the other—er—children?"

"Orphans, you mean? Well, I'm older and they can trust me. I came over to get a squint at this Mr. Tomlinson. I can tell about people when I see them. Now I could tell in a minute that you are awfully nice, full of fun and kindness. Honestly, I'd rather marry a hard working, jolly carpenter than a crusty old professor who writes books to make children study."

"So you are thinking of marriage already, and you a mere slip of a girl in an orphanage?"

"Why, yes, why not? Should not a girl think of marriage?"

"I suppose so."

"I heard that this Mr. Tomlinson never married and that he hated girls and was afraid of grown-up women, is that so?"

"Well, I never heard Mr. Tomlinson air his views on that subject."

"You better get to work or Mr. Tomlinson will see you and fire you and give me the very dickens for pestering you."

"That's true."

"And I've got to hustle back for the cooking class."

"You are learning to cook? I thought girls only learned how to dance and powder their noses these days."

Mr. Tomlinson wasn't at all annoyed.

FLO BLUSHES

The next day he was putting the finishing touches on the tree seat when the girl came over again.

"Hello there—how are the cooking lessons coming on?" he asked.

"Some of the children are rather dumb."

"You don't seem dumb."

"I'm not, or I wouldn't be—well, at the head of the class. What is your name?"

"Jerome," Mr. Tomlinson said. "What is yours?"

"Florabella Walton, but they call me Flo, Mr. Jerome."

"Flo? Very pretty. People call me 'Jerry.'"

"I like 'Jerry.' Are you married, Jerry?"

"No, indeed—are you thinking of marrying me?"

The girl blushed and shook her head.

"I'd like to come up and see all the lovely flowers some day, but I suppose Old Tomlinson would bite my head off. And I'm crazy about fishing, wish I could fish in his old private pond, but I guess it's no use—he's a crusty old man who hates girls."

"I'll tell you what I'll do, Flo. I'll sneak over to the pond with you tomorrow and have rods and lines and we'll fish."

"Old Tomlinson will see us."

"I'll fix it so that he won't molest us."

So they went fishing the next day, and the next.

It was a month before Tomlinson had all of his benches made. He was going to do a big summer house, just for the love of carpentering and building things. There was a big summer house in the orphanage yard that he admired. He stopped there one day to see Mrs. Thayer and get permission to look the summer house over and take measurements. Mrs. Thayer was quite willing. He praised her for handling the children so well, and then she wanted to show him her domestic economy class. He looked in the white room with is row of gas stoves, shelves and kitchen appliances.

There was Florabella Walton, smilingly teaching the youngsters various culinary arts.

ACCEPTS PROPOSAL

"Rather a smart little girl, isn't she?" Tomlinson asked.

"Little girl? Why Mr. Tomlinson, that is Miss Walton, who used to teach domestic economy at Briarcliff College. She's 24."

"Indeed," Mr. Tomlinson said, trying to back away before Florabella could see him. He made a hasty study of the summer house and went home. He sent flowers over to the orphanage that afternoon, and then vegetables from his garden and later boxes of wholesome barley candy for the little tots, all in two days.

Florabella came over when he was building the summer house.

"Look here, Jerry, I was wrong about Mr. Tomlinson. He's just splendid."

"Oh, no, I'm much better than Old Tomlinson——"

"I—I just found out—I apologize, Mr. Tomlinson. I can't keep it a secret any more. I saw you at the cooking class two days ago and Mrs. Thayer told me—I guess we're even. I thought you was just a carpenter and you thought I was a little 'Orphan Annie'."

"I wish you were, Flo, for then I would adopt you."

"I'm 24, Mr. Tomlinson."

"Too old for a man of 35 to adopt, Flo, but just the right age for a man to marry—unless you are married."

"No, not married, but I am going to be."

"I'm too late then, well, good luck to you, Miss Walton."

"I'm going to be married to you—if that was a bona fide proposal," Flo said.

On the back porch Mrs. Schultz cried, Mr. Tomlinson is a man, look, Mr. Tomlinson is down there kissing a girl!"

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 12, 1931

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

The Councilmanic Race

The City's Great Need Is Councilmen Who Will Not Be Subservient to the Kline Machine

Entries [illegible] the primary election of September 15 have been closed. It is an opportune time to consider the issues. There are two paramount issues before the voters.

1—Is racketeering to be permitted to continue?

2—Is extravagant misuse of the taxpayers' money to continue?

Re[illegible] H. Smith [illegible] outstanding issue in an [illegible] announcement. [illegible] Attorney [illegible] his candidacy for City Council, [illegible] emphasizes the situation in language which [illegible] not too strong.

"Property owners [illegible] have told me of their desperate plight in trying to save their homes. Tax liens [illegible] fill page after page in the newspapers. Each notice brings a sense of despair and shame to some struggling family. Thousands are out of work, others forced to economize as never before.

"In spite of this the Kline administration indulges in an orgy of useless expenditures, and cannot even forego its oriental rugs, mother-of-pearl bath tubs, custom-built tires and swagger monograms, while a subservient majority in Council approves every extravagance."

The [illegible] in which to check this extravagance, as Mr. Smith suggests, is to elect to Council men who will be independent of the Kline administration, supporting it in what is good but resolutely opposing it in what is evil.

The [illegible] Mayor's majority in Council at present is not [illegible] subservient to Kline but disgustingly servile. It showed [illegible] by declining to investigate Houston's charges against the administration, charges which eventually led to the resignation of the Mayor and his Director of Supplies, Bertram D. Sutton.

Two members of Council who have repeatedly proved they will not take orders from Mayor Kline are up for re-election. They are Robert Garland and Charles Anderson.

The voters can be sure of having an independent councilman if they elect [illegible] McArdle.

On the other hand, Robert J. Allerdice, who seeks re-election, is one of the Mayor's supporters, and James F. Rooney, William J. Sossi and John M. Phillips are expected to be on the Kline machine's ticket.

It is of the greatest importance that voters shall know whether or not candidates for Council will be independent or will accept instructions from the machine. The answer to the question if municipal extravagance is to continue depends on the complexion of the next Council.

The Squaw Run Park Plan

Pittsburgh Is Handicapped by the Lack of a Suitable Place for Aquatic Sports.

Thomas A. Dunn, president of the Chamber of Commerce, has said a timely word in his statement calling for the establishment of a public park suitable for varied aquatic sports.

The lake and swimming pool which the Chamber's recreation committee has proposed shall be constructed in the Squaw Run valley in O'Hara Township near Aspinwall, at the point where the stream enters the Allegheny River would fill the bill admirably.

Regattas could be held on the river, with a natural amphitheater at the creek's mouth to seat thousands of spectators. Bathing and swimming accommodations would be available for 17,000 persons.

Mr. Dunn gives some very good reasons for going ahead with this project. He points out that the South Park pool is inadequate and that the county parks are inaccessible to people who do not own automobiles and cannot afford the bus fare. The Squaw Run park could be reached by trolley car.

There is another reason—a reason which should appeal to businessmen—why the establishment of an easily accessible aquatic park is desirable. Pittsburgh is handicapped by the lack of such a place in competition with places like Cleveland and Detroit and Chicago on the lakes, and New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore, which are on or close to the sea.

It has been found that industrial concerns in looking for places for their plants have given preference to some of these other cities because they could furnish the workers opportunities for recreation that Pittsburgh was unable to offer.

The Squaw Run park would at least partially supply the deficiency.

Pedestrians' Rights

Motorists Will Do Well to Give People on Foot a Chance, As They Will Be Under Observation

Here are some friendly tips for motorists.

Give pedestrians a chance when they become marooned at cross walks. The 500 "Traffic Safety Observers of Pittsburgh," a volunteer group of citizens who watch and report on motorists' practices, are going to pay particular attention during the next few weeks to the attitude of drivers towards persons on foot.

The law gives pedestrians the right of way at uncontrolled intersections and the right of way over turning vehicles at controlled intersections.

Another tip: Benjamin G. Lynch, commissioner of motor vehicles, announced today that the state would require no official inspection of cars this fall. But have your headlights and brakes inspected anyway, for your own safety.

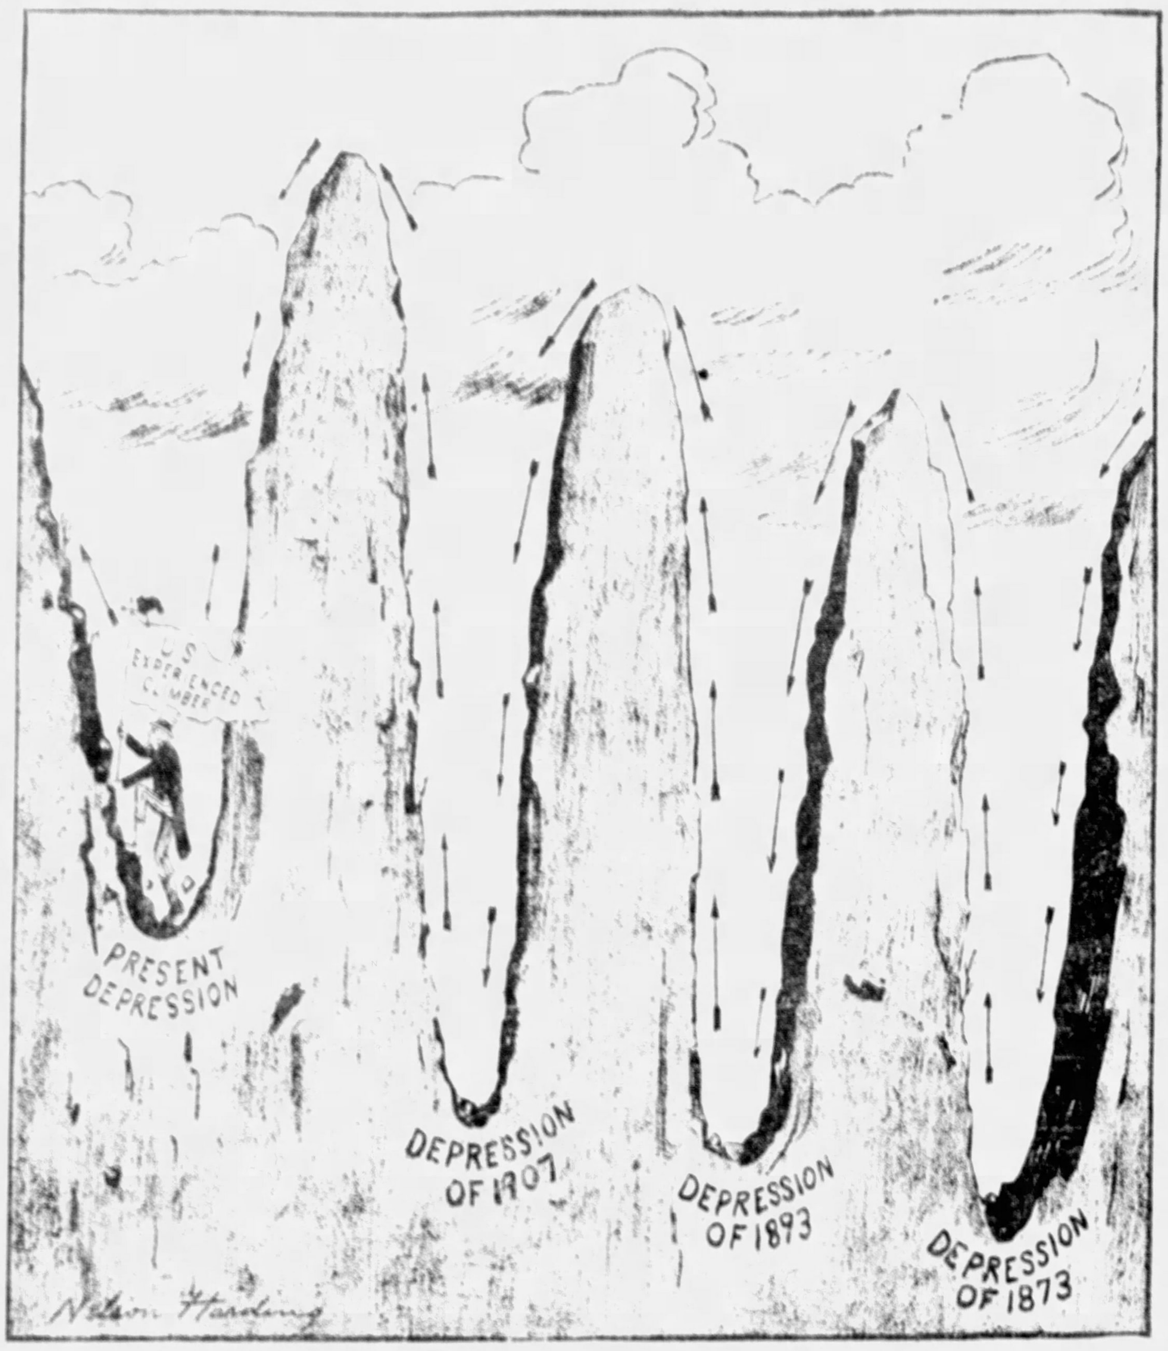
SUN-TELEGRAPH'S PLATFORM

For Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania

1—A better, cleaner, more beautiful city.
2—Rapid Transit.
3—Repeal or modification of blue law.
4—Establishment of Pittsburgh metropolitan district.
5—Town Hall seating at least 15,000.
6—Voting machines to insure honest elections.
7—Development of river transportation.
8—Development of air transportation.
9—Electrification of railroads.

'You Can't Keep a Good Man Down'

By Nelson Harding



Our Uncle Sam has ups and downs
But he's a seasoned climber
Of depths and heights a veteran,
Experienced old-timer.

The diagram shows how he's climbed
From out some deeper valleys,
And now his fortitude and strength
For one more climb he rallies.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Mrs. Solomon Says—

My Daughter, consider the fashionable Beach Resort where the wild waves eternally pursue their beating upon the shore and the wild women eternally pursue the MEN.

* * *

Where the men adorn themselves in flowing garments which modestly cover their shrinking forms and the women wear the trousers.

* * *

Where the sole application and occupation of life is a sun-tanned back. And bare legs are frankly displayed in all their glory of peeling skin and mosquito bites.

Where the rich widows are followed by their suitors and grandpa, but the damsels sigh wearily and walk ALONE in the moonlight.

* * *

Where ravishing damsels are as plentiful as the sands of the shore and eligible men are scarcer than buffalo and harder to attain than a penthouse apartment.

* * *

Where a new love blossometh with every moontide and dieth before the strains of the last waltz have died.

* * *

Where the women go forth bravely clad in short socks, but the men wear long "golf" stockings.

* * *

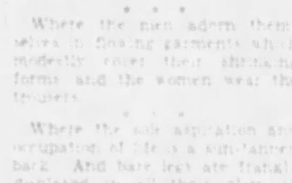
Where the lips of the damsels are redder than poppies and their tint cometh not off in the sea for they are waterproof—but not kissproof.

* * *

Where the eyes of women say "Come hither" and the eyes of the men say "Go away."

* * *

Where cocoanut oil adorneth the backs and the shoulders and bananaoil floweth freely from the lips.



Where the gossips thrive and babble and the other women listen with peeled ears. For what else have they to DO?

* * *

Where everything that filleth the moments is of great import—but nothing of great import ever occurreth.

* * *

Where the sentiments are lighter than summer love but the wardrobe are darker than the roots of blondined hair.

* * *

Verily, verily, the Beach Resort is a world in itself, wherein the players hate their roles and their relatives and each playeth his little comedy. But when the show flieth each shall say in his own heart: What on earth did I ever SEE in THAT woman—or THAT man?

Selah.

ENGLAND DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

LONDON, Aug. 12.—One is rarely able to escape the haughtiness that is distinctly London as a first impression. Yet in a few days it mellows—melts away like one of its wraith-like fogs. Most Anglo-Saxons feel the tug of London no matter where they go. I think it is because of its pronounced pride.

No city in the world has rolled up such tradition. Every nook [illegible] every [illegible] is stuffed with some ancient memory that has played a part in history. In no other place has civilization heaped such a queer massing of humanity. Like it or not it is a phenomenon one must admire.

Paris has a gloating gust and London a harsh tangle. In Paris one is attracted by the portentous triviality. In London only the sober and gigantic reality. To me it is a city where the sun, like the people seeking happiness, is always trying with futility to shine.

If one judged England by its countryside from a train window all looks well. The wheat, the barley and oats are in healthy luxuriance. Yellowhammers sing amidst on bordering hedge rows. Wild roses and bramble blossoms with touches of poppy scarlet bloom everywhere.

Yet upon thundering into Victoria Station and entering the city there is a thought that Great Britain is world weary—a bit sick. It may have been imagination but there was an impression of lassitude. I hurried to the cheerful artificial light of an hotel room.

A fugitive morning fog drifted low, stamped its eternal signet of the sea and making street and window illuminations pale yellow furry blobs. Pedestrians along paves seemed swimming figures snipped out of black paper. The buildings luminously gray in clear light were today vague smudges.

Despite these depressing surface misgivings there is a feeling of security about London. She appears a great ship plunging through the tempest with majestic indifference. And no matter the course there is a conviction she is bound to reach port safely.

* * *

The gayest hour of London is the lunch time between one and two. Everybody pours out of offices, shops and counting rooms in a see-saw of exhuberance. Young men in trousers ruled like ledgers, stenographers arm in arm, young toffs in silk hats and gray derbies. Bill Sykeses, Arriets and Alfs scurry to quick lunch bars and coffee stalls. Countless omnibuses sway with passengers. Groups collect on the curbs and bridge ends. The streets fill with criers of racing tip sheets. Faces so tense and questioning relax and London forgets its worries for an hour.

* * *

London does some of its naming tongue in cheek. I thought of this when I sought ministrations of the newest and grandest tonsorial parlor called The Berkeley Shop. All over London are Berkeley hotels, Berkeley squares, Berkeley terraces and Berkeley manors. The original Berkeley is a shabby down at heel village in Gloucestershire. One of the joke towns of variety halls.

* * *

The ex-service street musicians have grown into a vast army of pathetic troubadours. Often two and three to a block. Some sightless, legless and otherwise maimed. Many shabby coat breasts are hung thickly with medals of valor. Their Thank you has the starchy inflection of the one time aristocrat.

* * *

This jaunt has been productive of one contact I always desired but somehow missed in New York. It was an introduction and pleasant evening with Harold MacGrath, the American novelist. He comes of the same literary era that produced Ade, Nicholson, Tarkington and McCutcheon and is now putting the finishing touches on his 39th book, which with more than 1,500 short stories comprises a remarkable writing output. Our mutual love for dogs established an immediate and I hope lasting friendship. Who does not remember his "The Man on the Box" and "The Drums of Jeopardy?"

* * *

And that reminds me that perhaps all this "glooming" over London is because I had to leave my dog in France on account of the six months quarantine rule on this side of the channel. He is billeted at a French chateaux with many wide acres for playground. He was too frantically excited over a squirrel on a limb the first he had ever seen—to pay the slightest attention to our farewell pat. It is not likely he will miss us as we miss him.

The Industrial Arts of Early Semites

By Archibald Henderson

Exhaustive researches by scientists into the remains of early Semitic civilization indicate an amazing skill in the industrial arts. A considerable knowledge of chemistry was undoubtedly at their disposal. And they were expert workers in metal, in particular gold and silver.

The Semites overcame the Sumerians and instead of destroying adopted the civilization of the conquered. The famous Sargon was a great king and warrior and conquered many of his enemies. His reign was about 2872 B. C. Undoubtedly the Semites were familiar with silver mining, for an inscription on one of Sargon's statues reads: "The god Enlil gave unto him (Sargon) the upper land, Mari, Parmuthi and Ibla, as far as the cedar forests and the silver mountains." It was at the mountains here referred to that silver was undoubtedly mined.

These Semites also made various implements and utensils of copper, especially pots and receptacles of various shapes and sizes. These copper household utensils and ornaments were sold in bazars in the cities.

Assyria arose as a kingdom to power and influence during the second millennium B. C. One of the great Assyrian patrons of learning was Assurbanipal, who flourished about 668 B. C. He had an immense library, and was noted as a patron of learning and the arts. His records ran up into the tens of thousands, and actually 25,000 tablets from his library have been excavated and sorted in the British Museum.

In his "Makers of Chemistry," Holmyard has pointed out that among the tablets rescued are several which deal with the making of glass in a strictly technical or scientific way. These tablets have proved of exceptional interest to students of the history of chemistry.

In analyzing the inscriptions on these tablets Dr. R. Campbell Thompson has shown great ingenuity. The three main ingredients in the glassmaking were found to be alkali, pure quartz sand and chalk. An artificial pink or red coral was manufactured by the Assyrians. The ingredients are given as 7,200 parts of an ordinary glass, 32 parts of oxide of tin, 20 parts of antimony, an unreadable number of parts of salt or saltpetre and one part of gold. This proportion of gold is known to be the right proportion for the preparation of what is technically termed ruby glass.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Comet

Man like a comet goes
Hurtling through life
Swiftly-glimpsed friends and foes
Concord and strife.

Plunging through deeps of night,
Vastness of dawn,
Arc of the comet's flight
Faultless is drawn.

Man like a comet sails
On through the days.
And the great Plan prevails
In all his ways.

Viewless the comet's goal,
Bright its desire;
And in man, too, a soul,
Stardust and fire!

Text For Today Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice.—Ephesians, iv.31.

A Plane and the Fakir

The Practical Conquers the Picturesque.

A MARVELOUS RIDER, WHO WOULD DRIVE THE BRITISH FROM INDIA

These two pictures interest thoughtful men desiring the domination of the earth by its most intelligent inhabitants.

The man on the horse is called "Peter the Hermit, of India."

The original Peter the Hermit, as you remember, made a trip to the Holy Land nearly 1,000 years ago. Outraged by treatment accorded to the pilgrim by the Arabs, he returned and aroused Europe to a frenzy of hatred against the pagan rulers of Jerusalem and with the authorization of the Pope, waged a crusade against the infidels, walking barefoot through France and other countries and gathering an army of 100,000.

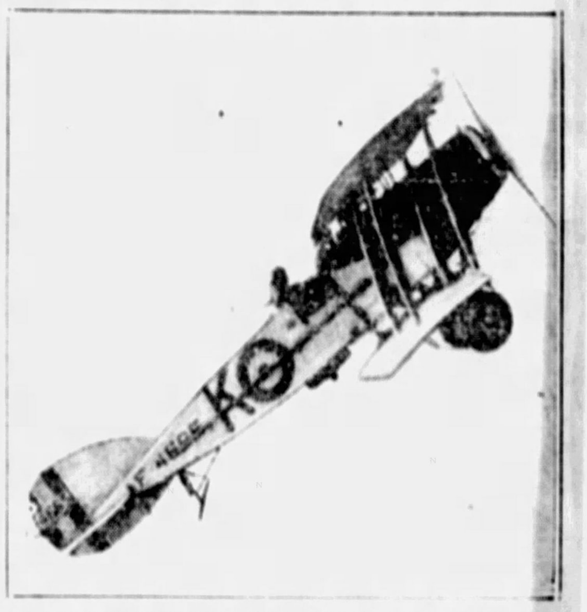
This fanatical fakir on horseback is also preaching a crusade. He is a ruler of marvelous skill and gallops through native towns at whirlwind speed, beating his huge drum as he goes. He has the reputation of a god and is preaching a crusade to drive the British out of India and "restore it to its people."

He couldn't "restore it," because the people never had it. The country was ruled by brutal rajahs, by cruelty, by deadening, horrible castes.

But, in any case, this modern Indian Peter the Hermit will not succeed in his crusade. The reason is shown in the lower picture.

That airplane of the British Royal Air Force, one of many, goes faster than the fakir on his horse, and its engine roars more loudly than the fakir's drum.

A few such airplanes can terrify and drive like sheep a million of native population.



A SIMPLE AIRPLANE OF THE BRITISH ROYAL AIR FORCE, BUT IT MAKES LIFE HARD FOR THE FAKIR AND HIS FOLLOWERS

The man on the horse is picturesque and you are almost sorry to see his kind disappear from any influence in the affairs of the world.

But picturesqueness no longer counts. And, for that matter, men flying through the clouds with explosives and poison gas are QUITE picturesque in their own way.

After a few visits from the Royal Air Force the natives that were most earnestly pouring rebels through the Bara Valley, urged by the man on the horse, hurriedly promised that they would stop the invasion.

A rabbit is feeble against an eagle.

A man on the ground or 10,000 men on the ground are feeble against an airplane.

Some day our government will UNDERSTAND that and devote its attention to development of an adequate air force, as is being done in France, Britain, Germany and all civilized countries except this one.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

By S. H. Connolly

Do you know:

1. What is the meaning of thesaurus?
2. What dress material was first made in Guingamp, Brittany?
3. What is the Mafia?
4. Where was the first vaudeville entertainment given?
5. What Hindu character in a well-known Kipling poem lost his life in devotion to his duty?
6. By what name is the amendment to the bill for the purchase of California and New Mexico in 1846 known?
7. What flower, medicinally valuable, traces its name to the physician of the Gods?
8. What well-known cut-rate theater ticket agent died recently?
9. What marine disaster occurred off the coast of Ireland in 1915?
10. What New Jersey town is said to be the hiding-place of Blackbeard's treasure?

Match correctly:

11. Buff City	Rochester, N. Y.
12. Forbidden City	Quebec, Canada
13. Kodak City	Manchester, England
14. Gibraltar of America	Hannibal, Mo.
15. Cottonopolis	Lassa, Tibet

Answers to today's test:

1. Storehouse of words of knowledge. 2. Gingham. 3. Secret society of Italians and Sicilians who defy law and order and protect criminals. 4. Vaudeville, Normandy. 5. Gunga Din. 6. Wilmot Proviso. 7. Peony (from Paion). 8. Joe Leblang. 9. Sinking of Lusitania by Germany submarine. 10. Burlington, N. J. 11. Hannibal, Mo. 12. Lassa, Tibet. 13. Rochester, N. Y. 14. Quebec, Canada. 15. Manchester, England.
